Ex-City Superintendent

E. E. Holt Named State School Head

Edward E. Holt, former superintendent of Marion schools, was employed by the Ohio Board of Education Tuesday as state director of public instruction.

Mr. Holt, who had been superintendent of Springfield public schools since December, 1947, replaces Harold Vincent, superintendent of Milwaukee schools, who withdrew last month after being appointed to the post.

A BILL CURRENTLY before the legislature would set the director's salary at $25,000 a year, Mr. Holt was told Tuesday.

A motion to appoint Mr. Holt as state director was made by Carlton Myers of Marion, chairman of the board's personnel committee, at a meeting of the board Tuesday afternoon. Board members voted unanimously in favor of the appointment.

Mr. Holt became superintendent here in June, 1949, and served until his appointment at Springfield in 1947. He previously had served as superintendent of the Hillsboro schools in Highland County for eight years.

He was succeeded here by Lester L. Dickey, who was later appointed superintendent of schools in Hamilton. Robert S. Brown, the present superintendent, replaced Mr. Dickey in the fall of 1954.

THE NEW STATE director's background in educational systems dates back to 1921 when he started his career as a high school teacher at the Eagle Township School in Brown County.

From 1922 to 1925 he was superintendent of schools in Higginsport, O., and from 1925 to 1932 he headed the public school system in Georgetown, O.

He received a bachelor of arts degree from Wilmington College in 1926 and a master of arts degree from Miami University in Oxford, O., in 1936.

During his seven-year term in Marion, Mr. Holt served as president of the board of trustees of the Marion Carnegie Public Library, as director of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the Rotary Club and taught a Sunday School class at the First Presbyterian Church.

The board did not say when Mr.

E. E. HOLT
Appointed to Top School Post

Holt would step into the new job. The General Assembly will have to set his salary and term of office first.

A bill to set the salary at $25,000 a year is in the legislature. Members of the Senate Education and Health Committee passed the measure 8-0 Tuesday and tacked on an emergency provision to make it effective the moment it is signed by the governor.

CHARLTON MYERS, chairman of the board committee that selected Mr. Holt, said it was his understanding "a definite term may soon be fixed by the legislature."

Mr. Holt is the second superintendent named by the 14-month-old board. Harold Vincent, superintendent of Milwaukee schools, withdrew last month. Mr. Vincent's withdrawal came after the attorney general ruled informally the superintendent must be a qualified elector of Ohio, and that the board could not legally set the superintendent's salary. Mr. Vincent was not a qualified Ohio elector.

In naming Mr. Holt to the post, the board said it needed his "able, courageous and experienced leadership."

Selassie Seen Granting U.S. Ethiopia Bases

Nixon Confers With Emperor on Air and Naval Installations

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie is reported favorable to a U.S. request for Ethiopian bases flanking Egypt—provided Ethiopia gets more American aid.

Vice President Nixon during his current visit has pressed the American request for an Air Force communications base and anchoring facilities at the Red Sea port of Massawa. Word of the American aims brought immediate reaction from Moscow and Cairo.

Russia was said to have warned Ethiopia it might get embroiled in a major war, alleging the United States wants to store atomic and hydrogen bombs on Ethiopian soil.

Egypt's President Nasser sent a special envoy to Addis Ababa before Nixon arrived, reportedly with an urgent request for the Emperor to visit Cairo. Nasser views the vice president's African tour as part of a concentrated U. S. attempt to isolate Egypt from her neighbors.

The American request, according to well-informed sources, in-

Special Council Session Called On New Posts

A special meeting of Marion City Council will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in City Hall to consider an amendment to an ordinance adopted Monday night authorizing the employment of a sanitary engineer and two sewer inspectors.

Councilman-at-large John Courtwright Jr. said the amendment will set up the specifications for the three positions and list the qualifications for them.

The qualifications will be for a sanitary engineer or a resident engineer and the inspectors, he said. There also will be a broad outline of what is expected of each of the employees and the general duties of the positions, he said.

At its meeting Monday night, council adopted an ordinance authorizing the safety service director to employ a sanitary engineer and two inspectors effective April 1. The engineer is to be paid $650 a month and the inspectors $15 a day. Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow said that they would be used on the forthcoming construction projects as resident engineer and inspectors and during any spare time and between construction projects would be used to locate cross-connections between storm and sanitary sewers in the city.

Council adopted the ordinance after lengthy debate. John Courtwright, Fifth Ward, expressed opposition saying he wasn't convinced the three new city employees were needed. Richard Lister, councilman-at-large, also was opposed, saying he felt the resident engineer and the inspectors should be employed by Floyd G. Browne and Associates, consulting engineers who designed the Indiana Ave.-Forest Lawn Blvd. sewer projects and having general supervision

Records Are Gone, Racket Probe Hears

Destroyed 'To Make Office Space,' Witness Testifies to Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reginald (Reg) Mikesell, secretary-treasurer of Portland, Ore., Joint Teamsters Council No. 37, testified today that most of the council's financial records wanted by Senate racket investigators have been destroyed.

Mikesell was the first witness called on the 10th hearing day of the investigations into an alleged plot by some Teamsters Union bosses, public officials and underworld elements to control Portland vice profits.

Mid-1954 to Mid-1956
Mikesell said that most financial records of Council No. 37 for the period from mid-1954 to mid-1956 have been destroyed—"to make more office space."

In reply to questions, he said financial records for the period from 1937 to 1954 were all intact.

The committee expected to put William M. Langley, Multnomah County (Portland) district attorney, on the witness stand later as the day's major witness. Langley has been linked to the alleged plot in testimony from earlier witnesses.

Mikesell also said most of the union's correspondence files have been destroyed.

'Some Place in Asia'

He said all of the discarding was done at his orders by a woman employee, a Dorothy O'Brien, who now is "some place in Asia."

A burst of laughter came from the spectators in the crowded hearing room at that testimony. "Well that's true!" Mikesell exclaimed.

The alleged attempt by teamster officials to "muscle in" on Portland rackets embraced the period from mid-1954 to mid-1956. Investigators said they expected William M. Langley, Multnomah County (Portland), Ore., district attorney, to be the day's major witness.

Langley, a Democrat, has been linked in prior testimony to an alleged plot of high Teamsters Union bosses to "take over Oregon law enforcement" and capture control over underworld profits. He is under indictment in Oregon on charges of malfeasance and failure to conduct prosecutions.

Unnamed Witness
Robert Kennedy, Senate committee counsel, said he expected to question an unnamed witness about "destroyed" Portland Teamsters Union financial records and to play at the open hearings approximately 40 minutes of tape recordings.

It has been previously testified the recordings were taken in secret by James B. Elkins, Portland gambler, and others were about to "double-cross me."

In Portland, Elkins and an employee, Raymond F. Clark, were ordered to stand trial March 26 on an indictment charging violation of the federal wiretap law in connection with some of the recordings.

Another witness, due to be recalled briefly, was Clyde Crosby, Oregon teamsters union boss. He has denied much of Elkins' testimony about Seattle gamblers being sent to Portland by teamsters.

Newsman Quiz Teamsters' Boss

Beck Says He Made His Fortune in Real Estate

SEATTLE (AP)—Is Dave Beck a millionaire, as he oft-times has been described?

The Teamsters Union president wouldn't say yes and he wouldn't say no to newsmen Tuesday night. "It's as easy to say Beck is a millionaire as it is to say he has $200," said the voluble onetime truck driver in answering questions about his financial status as head of the nation's largest labor union.

Then, at his first news conference since his hurried flight home from Europe under the pressure of Senate investigators, he listed some of the real estate deals that he said had brought him a tidy fortune.

He did it while asserting that if the special Senate committee for investigating alleged labor union rackets tries to pry into his personal financial affairs, he is prepared to invoke the Fifth Amendment unless his attorneys advise him otherwise.

Beck said he had "much business" outside the union, much of it in association with other persons "far removed" from the union.

Ben-Gurion Says Israeli Free To Act if Egyptians Move Back To Gaza Strip

ON GUARD IN GAZA. United Nations soldiers keep wary eyes on Arab demonstrators in the background after using tear gas to disperse the pro-Egyptian mob when it tried to storm the United Nations police headquarters in Gaza. United States and Israeli officials expressed alarm over the new Middle East crisis after Egypt's announced plan to resume control of the controversial Gaza Strip along the Israeli-Egypt borderline.

SEATO Group Pledges Battle Against Reds

Nations Winding Up Conference on Note Of Hope, Harmony

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The SEATO Council of Ministers ended its third annual conference today with a call for more economic cooperation coupled with continued military vigilance to combat Red aggression in Southeast Asia.

Winding up a three-day session, the eight-nation council put out a communique outlining four main objectives:

1. Tighten SEATO's defense and intensify measures to safeguard the internal security of its member states.
2. Develop economic resources of SEATO members to keep them from coming under the domination of the Red bloc.
3. Encourage a multilateral cultural program to promote mutual understanding among SEATO members.
4. Extend SEATO's program of detecting and exposing Communist subversion.

The conference closed with mutual expressions of praise from the various ministers.

Secretary of State Dulles declared, "We have every reason to be gratified with what has been accomplished at Canberra."

The council agreed to appoint a secretary general and a deputy secretary to head up its permanent headquarters in Bangkok.

Offers To Be Helpful

Ike Claims Budget Cut Congress' Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he will be as helpful as possible but it is up to Congress to determine how and whether the administration's $71,800,000,000 budget can be cut.

The President also told a news conference he has abandoned tentative plans to go to Florida for his health.

He said that instead he plans to leave probably Thursday night for Bermuda by Navy cruiser.

Eisenhower will open four days of talks in Bermuda with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan March 21. The President said he plans a leisurely cruise to Bermuda.

To Sail From Norfolk
Barring any last minute change in plans, Eisenhower will sail from Norfolk, Va.

Eisenhower's remarks regarding budget cutting were in reply to a request for comment on House passage Tuesday of a resolution asking the President to point out where the administration's budget can be cut "substantially."

The resolution, merely a statement of the House's position, has no force of law. The vote was 219-178, with most Democrats for it and most Republicans against.

Asked what he plans to do about that call for advice, Eisenhower said he would have no objection to re-examining the budget, and added he will be just as helpful as he can in trying to find ways to cut it.

Up to Congress
But he went on to say it is Congress which authorizes specific projects and provides the money to finance them, and for that reason it is up to Congress to decide whether any cuts should be made.

Eisenhower made one suggestion—that Congress move to eliminate the Post Office Department's deficit by providing for greater mail revenue.

Asked today how he was feeling, the President replied he feels some better. At this point, he added, it seems to be just a matter of wearing out the ailments that have been bothering him.

Eisenhower also dealt with these other matters:

Mideast — United States' views regarding the current situation in the Mideast, where there is threat of new trouble in the Gaza Strip, have been communicated to United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, Eisenhower said. Meanwhile, he added, we should not prejudice or attempt to predict the outcome.

Two days ago Egypt announced its intention of taking over civil administration from U. N. Emergency Forces in the Gaza Strip. Eisenhower said his hope is that Hammarskjöld—who is planning to go to Egypt—will be able to work out a settlement which will contribute to a durable peace in that area.

GOP nominees — Eisenhower was reminded by a reporter that Meade ALCORN, new chairman of the Republican National Committee, stated a policy this week of supporting all Republican nominees for congressional seats in 1958.

The newsmen asked Eisenhower whether he goes along with that policy to the extent of back-

U. N. undersecretary Ralph Bunche and Egyptian President Nasser met for the first time to discuss the Gaza crisis.

Bunche talked for an hour and a half with Nasser, then told newsmen the U. N. Emergency Force would cooperate fully with the Egyptian administration in the Gaza Strip.

Ben-Gurion spoke in reply to a deputy asking assurance the Israeli government would take "all political and security steps" to prevent the return of an Egyptian regime to the Gaza Strip.

Political Action First

For the present, the Premier said Israel is trying to head off an Egyptian return to Gaza by "political measures." He did not specify these, but Ambassador Abba Eban hurried back to Washington from a Florida vacation to confer with U. S. officials.

Ben-Gurion expressed surprise at Bunche's earlier statement that the U. N. troops are in Gaza with Egyptian agreement.

"It was not in the power of the Egyptian dictator to agree or disagree to this since he was ignominiously expelled from the strip," the Prime Minister declared. He charged that Egypt got the Gaza Strip in the first place by making war on Israel in 1947 in "violation of the U. N. Charter."

"I must add with regret," Ben-Gurion continued, "that Dr. N. Bunche's superiors in the U. N. have

Compromise Is Sought in Cairo Talks

Civil Administration By Nasser, Policing By UNEF Seen Goal

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion told the Israeli Parliament today that his government "reserves its freedom of action" if the Egyptians return to the Gaza Strip.

It was Ben-Gurion's first comment since Egypt announced it was resuming control of the disputed Mediterranean coastal area. The tough old Israeli leader who ordered Israel's blitz invasion of Egypt last October warned:

"If the time comes when action is appropriate and necessary, the Israel government will not, of course, give prior notice of its actions."

Never Belonged to Egypt
The Gaza Strip, Ben-Gurion told the Knesset (Parliament), never belonged to the Egyptians and was "of use to them only for the purpose of attacks or threats against Israel."

In Cairo, U. N. officials and the Egyptians appeared to be moving toward a compromise providing for Egypt to handle the civil administration in Gaza while U. N. troops policed the Israeli-Gaza border.

Israel withdrew from Gaza last week on the assumption that the U. N. Emergency Force would administer the strip and that Egyptian control would not be reimposed.

36 Planes Searched

Fake Bomb Scares Tie Up Five Major Airlines

NEW YORK (AP)—Five bomb scares Tuesday, and Tuesday night caused five major airlines to search 36 planes in 10 cities in the East, Midwest and South. No bomb was found but some 1,000 passengers encountered delays of up to an hour.

Trans World Airlines had 28 planes searched in a four-hour period after receiving a hoax call at its Manhattan ticket office in early afternoon.

Twenty-two of the planes were searched at New York's two airports, Idlewild and LaGuardia, and at Newark, N.J.

Another six planes were ordered out of the air and told to land at their nearest airports. These planes landed at Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh,

Detroit and Cleveland. TWA officials swung into action after an anonymous young male caller telephoned this threat:

"There's a bomb on your plane. You better get it off." Then the caller hung up.

Since no particular plane was singled out as the bomb target, TWA officials took all precautions. American Airlines, on the basis of a telephoned threat received by its Philadelphia office, had one of its twin-engine Convairs searched as it landed here Tuesday night on a flight from Boston. A woman caller said 12 sticks of dynamite had been placed on an American Convair flying from Boston to New York.

Bracken Lee
New Head of
'For America'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Republican Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah, new national chairman of For America, says he will expand his campaign against the federal income tax.

Reorganization of For America with Lee in the new post was announced Tuesday. Lee said he will stump the country speaking for repeal of the income tax and against "reckless spending and extravagant waste."

Attacking both major political parties at a press conference, Lee said a third party of conservatives may develop if Democrats and Republicans don't give the people "a choice."

He said President Eisenhower is an "interloper" in the Republican party, and that Eisenhower's "Modern Republicanism" is "just another form of socialism." Lee attracted national attention when he refused to pay a part of his 1955 income tax and the government collected by slapping liens on his bank account. Lee said Tuesday he had been challenging the government's right to tax people to aid foreign nations, but the Supreme Court "threw my case out."

For America was organized in 1954 to fight what its founders called "superinternationalism" and seek "a return to constitutional government."

For the past 18 months it has been operating under the chairmanship of Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame University Law School, and Dan Smoot, Dallas, Tex., publisher and radio commentator. Manion and Smoot now will serve as vice-chairmen.

KENTON — Judge Herman Lease of the Kenton Municipal Court Tuesday dismissed charges of cutting with intent to kill, wound or maim which had been filed against Mrs. Cornelia Spaulding of Kenton.

The action was taken on a motion filed by the woman's attorney, Gene Garling of Lima. He charged the legal time limit had passed for the victim to testify. The victim, David Richardson of Kenton, has been confined to San Antonio Hospital here since the incident last month.

Prosecuting Attorney Paul McKinley told the court that the state was waiting for Mr. Richardson to testify but that his condition prevented him from appearing in court.

The case can still be heard by the grand jury even though dismissed in municipal court Tuesday, court officials reported. Mrs. Spaulding had been held in county jail under $2,000 bond. She was released from custody after Judge Lease's ruling.

Government Too Big To Keep Tabs On, Lausche Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) says the federal government is so big "I'd have to be 20 Lausches to keep up with what is going on."

Even then, he told an Ohio Farm Bureau delegation, "I doubt that I could do it."

Lausche spoke to farmers here on a three-day trip to discuss corn acreage programs with Ohio congressmen. The farmers also talked with Secretary of Agriculture Benson and heard Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) discuss atomic energy uses on the farm.

Lausche said he is opposed to a five million dollar appropriation sought by the administration to help finance the Pan American Games in Cleveland in 1959.

President Eisenhower, he said, has been "begging" people to "dispense building things that are not essential."

But "up in Cleveland, the newspapers are crushing me" for opposing the Pan American appropriation, Lausche declared.

Bolsheviks Subvert Russian Uprising

Lenin Group Gains Control Within 8 Months

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

"Every Russian bubbled with enthusiasm for the glorious future of his country. Liberty, so greatly desired, so long worked for, so much suffered for, had come at last."

So wrote a contemporary Russian historian of the 1917 days following the fall of Czar Nicholas II. In the "February revolution" (March 12 by the new calendar) the anger of all the people overthrew the Czar, the "Little Father" of all Russians and symbol of imperial might.

But in Russia today the Communists seldom speak of that gray northern morning in Petrograd 40 years ago, when angry crowds poured into streets overlain with winter's drabness. The Communists mark only what they call the "Great October Socialist Revolution" — the eight months later which betrayed the hopes of those bitter people.

Monday, March 12 was a day of glory. A general strike had gripped the imperial capital for days. Now flaming red banners of revolution fluttered defiantly. A sea of angry people surged through the capital's canal-laced streets. Many had been through "Bloody Sunday" in the 1905 revolution against the same Czar. Many had seen wanton slaughter, felt the Cossack knot. From nowhere orators materialized to harangue them.

MOUNTED POLICE and Cossacks brandishing the hated knouts charged the mass of humanity. Machinegun fire crackled from rooftops. Blood reddened the muddy slush. The roar of pain and anger was a signal for an explosion from which the world never recovered.

Troops deserted to the crowds by thousands. Workers, now armed, smashed into gloomy old Peter and Paul Fortress, main prison for political offenders, and disgorged its stream of human misery. The revolution was on! In a few days the Czar would abdicate and freedom would be in sight. For a while it seemed a new day would dawn for old Mother Russia.

The causes were deep, rooted in antiquity, years of suffering under total autocrats. While the West developed, Russia stood still. Western Europe's industrialism in the 19th century was rapid, building a sturdy working class and a strong middle (bourgeois)

17, 1916, a group of young officers assassinated the "holy devil." But the damage had been done. Mistrust of the Imperial court added to army and civil discontent. Petrograd was staggered by strikes. The capital was in anarchy.

WHEN THE revolution toppled Nicholas II, there was hope. The provisional government under Premier Prince Lvov represented all the people except the noisy minority of Bolsheviks. Some stood for constitutional monarchy, some like the Social Revolutionaries under Justice Minister Alexander Fyodorovich Kerensky stood for abolition of private land ownership.

The revolution caught the Bolsheviks by surprise. Most of their leaders were abroad or in exile.

Bolshevism had been born in 1903, nine years after Nicholas II became czar, in a split of the Russian Social Democratic Labor party. The Bolsheviks (majority) were headed by Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov, a small, plump figure with bulging forehead and snub nose, son of a district school inspector and member of the petty nobility. He called himself Lenin. An outstanding figure of the Mensheviks (minority) faction was Lev Davidovich Bronstein, fanatic, fiery orator and brilliant organizer. Son of a well-to-do Jewish farmer, Bronstein called himself by the revolutionary name of Leon Trotsky.

WHEN REVOLUTION broke in March, Lenin was in Switzerland. Trotsky in New York. Among the first Bolshevik leaders to reach Petrograd after the revolution was a 36-year-old Georgian revolutionary named Josef Djugashvili, who called himself Stalin—Man of Steel.

In April the Germans, hoping continued revolutionary ferment would knock Russia out of the war on the Allied side, put Lenin on a sealed train through Finland to Petrograd. Trotsky arrived in May, and soon afterward joined his Menshevik forces with Lenin's Bolsheviks. Together the two preached disobedience by soldiers at the front, and at home promised the people everything from peace to plenty if they would adopt the slogan "All Power to the Soviets." The Soviets (councils) were organizations of deputies representing soldiers and workers. Trotsky's Mensheviks were well represented in them, but the dominating party was Kerensky's Social Revolutionary group.

Lenin and Trotsky knew the power of a small, disciplined hard core. Playing on popular disillusion and fears of the return of czarism, they attempted a coup in July. It failed and Bolshevik leaders went into hiding. But an attempted military coup on the right gave them their chance later to recruit support among the Petrograd garrison and in the soviet.

LENIN CHOSE the hour—Nov. 7 (Oct. 20 by the old Russian calendar)—which incidentally was Trotsky's 38th birthday. Red guards stormed Peter and Paul Fortress, smashed into the Winter Palace and other government buildings, arrested the army general staff and seized government leaders. Kerensky, then Premier, fled.

With a handful of Bolsheviks, Lenin and Trotsky engineered a coup which was to be Russia's ultimate tragedy. The February revolution had emptied prison camps in Siberia. The October revolution would fill them again. The February revolution had destroyed the Czar's Okhrana, the dread secret police. The October revolution brought the Cheka, a new secret police terror more methodical than ever.

The dream of liberty turned into nightmare. Workers who thought they had "nothing to lose but their chains" held out their hands again for the shackles. The bitter history of Russia was being repeated. Tyranny was replacing tyranny, as it had through centuries of history which made Russia a mystery to the civilized world.

Snack Seeker Knocks Self Out Over Cooking

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (U.S.)—Some people figuratively "knock themselves out" over home cooking—and Benny Portogallo did it Monday night—literally.

Hungering for a midnight snack, Benny put a man-sized portion of his wife's home-made chili in a pan, lighted the fire and sat down to relax while it heated.

Sometime later his wife, awakened by a strange odor, found Benny overcome by the fumes of the wildly boiling concoction. The Middletown fire department was summoned and the unconscious Benny was taken to Middletown Hospital.

After treatment, Benny was returned home, but decided he no longer was hungry for chili.

Report Notes Decline In Diet Calorie Content

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Today's diet in the United States has an average of nearly 8 per cent fewer calories than that of 1900.

The Agriculture Department reported today that Americans now eat a daily average of 3,220 calories. At the turn of the century the diet averaged 3,490 calories. The calorie is a unit for measuring the energy in food.

The agency said the demand for foods high in calories has lessened largely because of widespread use of labor saving devices in industry, farming and the home, and by a general desire to control body weight.

Candy Containing Glass Slivers Sent To 'Blues' Singer

HOLLYWOOD (U.S.)—Police said today that someone sent a box of chocolates to blues singer Dinah Washington that could have proved fatal had she eaten them. The chocolates contained slivers of glass.

The 32-year-old Negro singer, appearing at Sardi's, only learned about the chocolates Tuesday. Detective Sgt. Mark Nolan said.

She had received the 1½-pound box through the mail two days ago and gave them to a friend, Mrs. Ann Moore. Mrs. Moore bit into one of the chocolates, discovered the glass and returned the box to Miss Washington who called police.

Enclosed with the candy was a typewritten note:

"My tail is short as you can see, goodbye to you from me."

It was signed "Yasha."

Miss Washington said she had no idea who the sender could be. U.S. postal inspectors have been called into the case, police said.

Clarence Begner's 40 Araucanas chickens, imported from Chile, lay eggs, he claims, in green, blue and pink — and sometimes in stripes.

Begner, a Princeville, Ill., shipping supervisor, said Tuesday he plans a brisk Easter egg trade this year.

The Way the Wind Blows

This exciting idea that not spending a few billion could be better politics than spending it is being talked about in Washington as the biggest change in the wind since the federal spending spree began in the thirties.

Old-time political cynics are warning that there is nothing to be excited about; that they know the American people and the people do not want to cut spending now or ever.

But there are political realists who think there is something to be excited about. They think they know the American people, too, and that the people are fed up with the practice of bleeding taxpayers to keep spenders rosy and fat.

We think the realists are on the right track. We think the way the wind blows always determines what politicians will do — and that the wind has veered.

People are tired of the proposition that nothing is too good for government and that any expense can be justified if it is called national security.

The cutback movement, after it has done something about adding unelected jobholders, stoking up grumpy trains, filling pork barrels and being open-handed with countries which will not give the United States the time of day, will slice into national defense, where most of the spending is done.

Once the wind blows in favor of taxpayers, for a change, instead of taxpayers, a thousand ways to save money that no one thinks of at the moment will become evident. When politicians start to carry favor with voters by saving money, instead of buttering them up with promises to spend it, political ingenuity will know no limits.

Systematic Explorer

Until Adm. Byrd demonstrated the possibilities of systematic exploration, vast, uncharted areas of the earth were threatening to stay that way, especially the areas at the poles.

His use of airplanes and modern machinery to do what men formerly tried to do with their own strength brought a new age of exploration into existence.

Those who remember Richard E. Byrd as the handsome young naval officer who made incredible flights over the North Pole and South Pole and the North Atlantic a few years ago will be reminded by his death at 69 that he did those things away back in the twenties and thirties. Today, in the late fifties, systematic exploration is common practice. There is no excitement caused by an Atlantic flight or another polar exploration. Dreadful as the thought is, there probably will be youngsters who will want to know how Adm. Byrd became famous.

Touch of Hypochondria

One lesson that must be learned the hard way about this country's economic hypochondria is that it runs in cycles.

Every so often, the blues set in, exactly as blues singers keep telling us they do. One morning, instead of answering, "Fine!" to the question of how they feel, a group of pundits say, "Not so good right now" — and that does it.

Everybody searches for symptoms. Imaginary ailments become as common as houseflies in August. Symptoms are swapped. Seers peer sourly at the statistics. There is a twitch here, a dull pain there.

And that is the way the blues set in. It is a conversational landslide that makes everything seem to be running downhill. Nothing can stop it until it has used up its momentum.

One morning, instead of answering, "Not so good right now," the pundits answer, "Fine!" when they are asked how they feel — and that does it. Everybody searches for symptoms of health. Imaginary ailments fade away. Evidence of boom times are swapped. Optimists look cheerfully at the statistics — and there is not a twitch or a pain anywhere.

It runs in cycles.

For the time-being, the United States is having a touch of hypochondria. It has been a hard winter and spring is far behind.

Example-Setters

Even if this had not been Girl Scout Week, there still would have been a comment here today about example-setters in a country that worries about juvenile delinquency while it boasts about the finest crop of youngsters it ever saw.

There is as much to feel good about at one extreme as there is to feel bad about at the other extreme. In each case, example-setters in the mature generation were the important factors in what happened to the youngsters.

Some of the best example-setters at the good extreme work with girls as their followers in the Girl Scouts. There are about 670,000 of these people — both men and women — who find time to help approximately two million girls learn the rudiments of decency and responsibility in a society that frequently neglects these virtues.

The thought comes to us that if men and women in general were to bear down a little harder on their example-setting at the good extreme, there would not be enough juvenile delinquency in the United States to shake a head over.

Court Revives Issue

By David Lawrence

Full Study of Political Contributions Slated

Is the way being opened for corporations as well as labor unions to contribute funds to political campaigns in which congressional and presidential candidates seek election?

The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled 5-4 that a case against the United Auto Workers Union, which was dismissed last year by the district judge without trial, should be tried now and all the facts brought out and the issues defined.

Justice Frankfurter, who wrote the majority opinion and Justice Douglas, who spoke for the minority, both seem to have indicated an area of political activity in which corporations as well as labor unions may put money during political campaigns.

Under the existing law, corporations and labor unions stand on the same footing. Justice Douglas, speaking for the minority, claims that what the union was indicted for doing "is a broadside assault on the freedom of political expression guaranteed by the first amendment."

If he is correct about that, then corporations now can plead the same rights under the Constitution.

IT SO HAPPENS that in 1907, when the first law on the subject of so-called "corrupt practices" was passed, only corporations came under the ban. They have not been allowed to contribute, directly or indirectly, to federal campaigns since that time and there have been no tests of the constitutional issues.

When the laws were extended in recent years to apply to labor unions, a challenge against such statutes appeared.

Labor unions have claimed they have a right to campaign at least in their own newspapers. Yet at no time have employers been conceded the same right to campaign in their own "house" publications directed to their own stockholders or to their own employees.

Justice Frankfurter asked some significant questions in the majority opinion just issued by the court.

He did not pass on the merits but it was easy to infer that not all political help or financial aid that corporations or labor unions may give in political campaigns is really taboo. Some of it is obviously protected under the Bill of Rights. Justice Frankfurter asked: "Was the broadcast paid for out of the general dues of the union membership or may the funds be fairly said to have been obtained on a voluntary basis? Did the broadcast reach the public at large or only those affiliated with the union? Did it constitute active electioneering or simply state the record of particular candidates on economic issues? Did the union sponsor the broadcast with the intent to affect the result of the election?"

IT MIGHT BE inferred from the foregoing that, if a union made a broadcast to its own members or if a corporation addressed its own employees and its own stockholders, it would be an exercise of the right of free speech under the Constitution but that, if they spent money for broadcasts which reached the general public, this might be construed to be a campaign contribution for election purposes.

It is difficult to see how the question of "intent" can ever be resolved. If a speech is broadcast on the radio or an advertisement is inserted in the newspapers, whoever pays for it — either the corporation or the labor union — would certainly know that it would reach far beyond any chosen audience directly connected with the sponsoring union or corporation.

Likewise, if it be permissible now merely to "state the record of particular candidates on economic issues" without asking the electorate to vote for or against particular candidates, isn't it naive to suppose that the general public listening to the broadcast or reading the advertisement would fail to construe this as active campaigning?

What the federal judge in Detroit did in dismissing the case without trial was simply to hold that, because the Supreme Court once had ruled that, under the constitutional guarantee of free speech, a union could carry in the columns of its own newspaper a political message from the union's leaders, there was no offense committed by the union this time either.

THE DEPARTMENT of Justice has been troubled by that decision of the Detroit judge, because no trial was held and no opportunity was afforded to meet the specific issues in court.

The Supreme Court now has opened up the case. But the raising of the right of free speech by the union opens up also the whole constitutional issue.

It would appear that Congress will have a hard time writing any law that's constitutional which could limit the size of campaign contributions made by corporations or unions when they don't give the money directly or indirectly to any political committee or to any candidate and when they carry on their own campaigns through the press, radio and television, pamphlets or billboards even where the avowed object is to assist a group of candidates or a particular political party.

New Look at Poland

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON
It may be time for Secretary of State Dulles to take a new look at the Polish Communist government.

Months ago in a classified letter never made public he told Congress Poland now is not Soviet-dominated.

In last October's upheaval in Poland the Stalinists in control of the government were thrown out and Wladyslaw Gomulka, a Communist jailed for years as a "Titoist" by Stalin, was made boss of the Communist party.

Since then his government has shown signs — although there have been reasons for skepticism — of being independent of Moscow. And several weeks ago it sent a delegation to Washington to ask for American economic help.

DULLES' LETTER was sent to the House Foreign Affairs Committee weeks before the delegation arrived. Between that time and now most of his attention has been concentrated on the Middle East and getting the Israelis out of Egypt.

But on March 10 the New York Times carried a story from Warsaw which said almost all the leaders of the Stalinist faction which fought Gomulka's return to power have now been reinstated in government jobs.

As a result, the story said, there is a feeling of bewilderment in Poland over the Polish Communists' tactics. And students have posted signs asking, "Are these changes of jobs or of policy?"

THERE CAN BE no doubt of the desire among Poles — 90 per cent of whom are Roman Catholic — for independence from Moscow.

What isn't known is this: Was the party shift-around in October a real attempt at independence by the Polish Reds themselves or an effort to quiet the wide unrest by putting on a different face?

There can be no doubt that some of the former harsh Communist controls have been relaxed under Gomulka.

But Russian troops are still in Poland. Under a treaty with Russia, they are forbidden to move around without the Polish government's permission, but this agreement could be broken instantly if the Polish people tried to throw out the Communists altogether.

And Gomulka on Jan. 14 said Poland must veer back toward Moscow's orbit. Poland recently

Invitation to Death

School Aid Facts and Figures

By Raymond Moley

SHREVEPORT
In the President's message of Jan. 23, Louisiana was listed as one of the "poor" states, unable to build schools for its population. Under the curious system provided for the President for allocating federal funds, the federal allotment per child for the first year of the program would be $12.34.

The allotment to the state from federal funds would be $2,044,000. Under the plan the state and local communities would then "match" this with $4,601,000.

This amount per child would be exceeded only by those planned for North Dakota, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Carolina, West Virginia, and New Mexico. These states are thus labeled as the "neediest" by the bureaucrats who provide the President with his figures.

PLENTY OF EVIDENCE is available to challenge the alleged need of all these states and on this trip I have traveled by automobile the length and breadth of three without discovering marked need.

But when I came to Louisiana there was time to gather the detailed facts.

These support the general impression that Louisiana is certainly not "poor," considering the vast resources in oil, gas, shipping, and other sources of wealth.

Two weeks after the President's message, the Public Affairs Research Council issued an analysis of the school construction situation which completely demolishes the President's specific estimates as well as his charge that "the need for federal assistance is not theory but demonstrated fact," and also that "there has been inadequate progress in reducing the shortage accumulated over many past years."

THIS LOUISIANA SURVEY gathered statistics from each of the 67 parishes of the state. These show that 62 of the 67 of these units of local government are presently able to finance their school needs up to 1960, with a surplus of $569,100,000 in unused bonding capacity after the needs are met.

This disposes of the first of the President's claims.

The second, which is an assertion that there has been "inadequate progress," is met by some figures of progress since 1954. In that year the Louisiana State Department of Education estimated that the state's 67 parish and city school systems would require $235,600,000 to finance their building and transportation needs to 1959.

Since that survey was made, thirteen of those systems have issued bonds in amounts more than necessary for their needs, and the other 54 systems have reduced their needs by more than a third.

IN THE PAST 10 YEARS the building has gone on much faster than the increase of population. The survey also notes that as much as 100 million dollars in local funds for school construction have been authorized but are not yet spent.

Now to return to the five parishes which have inadequate bonding resources to meet their needs. The shortage in these is only $4,100,000.

It is interesting to note that this sum is near the amount which, under the President's plan, the state and local communities would spend in matching funds.

Are we to believe that it is necessary to give a state $9,204,000 in federal funds which it does not need in order to induce the state to grant half of that to five local governments?

The answer of the State of Louisiana is "No, thank you!"

Cheer Up, Kids

By TRUMAN TWILL

The two ladies were saying to each other that when they were young they could not have held a candle to their own daughters in poise, savvy, education, intelligence and all-around information.

They went down a long list of young women, some in high school, some in college and some married. Not all the people they mentioned drew high praise, but there was firm agreement never had there been a generation of young females with more of what it takes to get along.

The important thing about them was their adaptability in their late teens and early twenties to circumstances and situations that would have thrown their mothers for a loss.

It was as though the daughters had grown up knowing how to cope with challenges to their composure that women in previous generations had to learn how to deal with by trial and error, usually in abject embarrassment and discomfort.

Moreover, these youngsters, in the opinion of the old-timers, had a settled philosophy about what they were doing and what they aimed to do later on that would do credit to women who knew the score and still liked the game at 45.

They looked, acted, thought, talked and dreamed better than young women ever had before.

And what was true of them was equally true of the young men they were going to school with and marrying when the time came. The two ladies had the word of several gentlemen for that.

But the several gentlemen, who were present, did not want their case to get into the record by hearsay. They wanted to say that the same perceptible improvement in the height, weight and all-around health of the rising generation of young men was discernible, also, in their educational level, comprehension of the world they lived in and grasp of the problems to be solved.

They wanted to say that in general know-how, ease of manner, philosophical balance, mental poise and social behavior there never had been a generation which had gone so far so fast.

What it amounted to, the gentlemen agreed, was that boys of today are as well fixed to take their responsibilities as their fathers became ten years later. But when the boys have had another ten years to figure things out.

This is a report of a conversation that happens so many times it is threatening to drown out the endless squawking, squealing, whimpering and whimpering about those awful juvenile punks who stab, shoot, steal, rob and rowdy-dow their unhappiness away from the cradle to the penitentiary.

It never will drown out that sort of thing, of course, because it is never news when kids turn out surprisingly well; only when they turn out hopelessly bad.

It would help if the nice kids heard something about themselves occasionally, instead of having the shortcomings of their brothers and sisters dinned into them seven days a week.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

To a Devoted Pooch

(A cocker spaniel puppy named Dee Dee, found in the closet with the dead body of four-year-old Mary Jane Barker in a New Jersey tragedy was killed, so an examination could be made to see if it had been fed during the disappearance, this being regarded as a possible clue to kidnapping—E.D. note.)

In some dog-heaven Dee Dee roams,
A hurt look in his eye;
A little dazed now, he asks,
"Why did I have to die?"
The memory of hasty men . . .
White tables . . . blinding light . . .
A needle . . . Then the darkness black
Still mars his new home bright.

Locked in a closet with a child,
He met the ordeal well
With frenzied scratchings at the door
'Til weak and spent he fell;
A kid's last hours knew his love
And deep devotion there;
As Death came on relentlessly
The pup gave comfort rare.

The darkness and the terror deep . . .
The horror and the fear
Were lessened by the knowledge that
The faithful pooch was there.
The pantings through the days and nights . . .
The pawings at the wall
Helped to relieve a kid's dismay
As Death prepared to call.

Alone, yet not alone, this child
Caught in stark tragedy,
For a devoted pup was close,
To show fidelity;
As fright increased, she clung to him
And wet his neck with tears
But felt a loving presence near
To shatter all her fears.

Too late the closet opened and
The dog, with fading breath,
Crawled out to gasp for cleansing air—
And met the Men of Death!
So this pooch in that paradise
Where dogs go when they die,
Still cocks an ear as if to hear
Somebody answer, "Why?"

THE FAMOUS ZIEGFELD FOLLIES revived in New York got mixed notices, with even the good ones falling far short of "raves" but this corner thinks the chief trouble with this form of entertainment is that legs are no longer a novelty.

The Ziegfeld format had its appeal back when knees and hips drew a second look. It has been years since bare flesh meant anything in the theater. Today, wives, sisters and daughters (even mothers) are almost as bare on the streets of the city as the Ziegfeld gals used to be as they came down the broad stairway and made pulses beat faster.

THIS IS AN AGE of glamorous models by the gross, bathing contest winners by the carload and seminaked cuties galore in business offices.

Any bathing beach is filled with curvaceous chicks stripped far beyond the most daring ideas of Ziggle, Earl Carroll or George White. . . .

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — A dispatch from Tokyo reported that China had broken off diplomatic relations with Germany because of that country's submarine warfare. China was the first neutral power to follow America in such action.

Sleet and heavy winds did thousands of dollars of damage to crops and trees in central Ohio and played havoc with street traffic.

At least 20 men were entombed by two explosions which wrecked the interior of the mine of the Henderson Coal Co. near Canonsburg, Pa. Rescue squads brought up seven men alive, but another 20 were believed to be trapped inside the crumbled ruins.

20 YEARS AGO — To guard against the spread of rabies, all dogs in Marion were ordered under quarantine by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner. The action followed a conference with Police Chief Mark S. and was in compliance with a request from the state health department requesting a six-month quarantine of dogs.

William A. Trapp, former Galion city auditor, indicted on 26 counts of forgery, pleaded not guilty and was placed under $5,000 bond when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl. Unable to furnish bond, he was returned to the Crawford County jail in Bucyrus where he had been held since Jan. 15.

Honored as the first employee of the Marion Power Shovel Co. to achieve a 50-year record of service was Leo Stuber of 229 N. Prospect St. Mr. Stuber was general foreman of the forge and structural department. He had started as a blacksmith when the company was only three years old.

County commissioners and Relief Director John Abel made arrangements to conduct a survey determining the status of every Marion family on relief. The action followed a state board's report that relief here was not being doled out fairly.

10 YEARS AGO — As absentees increased among pupils in city schools due to influenza and severe colds, E. E. Holt, superintendent, announced schools would close the following day, a Friday.

A new manufacturing firm which planned to employ 30 persons in the production of an insulating spray for autos was moving construction equipment into an area of the Scioto Ordnance plant. The firm was the Continental Contracting Corp. of Nashville, Tenn.

A Greyhound bus and an auto were involved in a Delaware accident in which eight persons were injured, two of them seriously.

The final community concert of the season was held at the Palace Theater, featuring the Lecture-Recital Club Chorus, directed by Miss Elizabeth Edgar, and a guest artist, Philip MacGregor, bass-baritone.

World Employment Record

By EDWARD M. WAKIN

UNITED NATIONS
Working men and women around the world enjoyed record prosperity and employment in 1956, the International Labor Organization of the United Nations Reports.

Although gains were modest compared to other postwar years, they were widespread and reached a new peak with most countries reporting higher employment, according to a year-end analysis just released by David A. Morse, ILO director-general.

Productivity and real wages also were higher on the average. Social security schemes were more generally available and benefits more liberal than before, although trends toward higher prices gave concern for future inflation and labor unrest, the report stated.

The greatest price increases were reported in Asia and Latin America, although the effects of the inflationary trend were also general in Western Europe, North America and Oceania.

This inflationary threat is contrasted with several years of price

Wyandot Farmer Gives Land Near Mill for Historical Park

UPPER SANDUSKY — With restoration of the Indian Mill and the surrounding grounds on the bank of the Sandusky River near Upper Sandusky scheduled for completion this year as a state historical site park, a proposed complementary Indian Mill Historical Park, just across the bridge on the east bank of the river, appeared assured today by the gift of the park site to the Wyandot County Historical Society.

Donors of the site were Mr. and Mrs. Ward W. Walton. The owner and operator of a large farm on the east side of the river near Indian Mill, Mr. Walton donated the site for the park to be used as a picnic grounds and parking area for visitors to the historic mill, stipulating only that a fence be built and maintained between the 2.78-acre park grounds and his adjacent farm land.

500 Feet Long
Length of the park parallel to the river bank will be 500 feet and the width running inland will be 295 feet. The area will include several large trees and the mill-race for a sawmill that once stood on the site.

Mervin Myers, a trustee of the Wyandot County Historical Society has been named by the society's board of trustees as supervisor of the park construction project.

Plans for the layout and landscaping of the park will be made by the state park planners in Columbus who drew the plans for the park on the old mill grounds.

Work on the picnic and parking areas of the new park will be started as soon as plans are returned from Columbus. The society trustees expect to have the park ready for use this summer.

To Seek Funds
The Historical Society is mapping preliminary plans for a campaign for funds over the county and is seeking volunteers to help with clearing of brush as a first step in site preparation. They are requesting any individual or organization able to aid in the clearing to contact Mr. Myers.

The exterior of the old mill, the grounds and the dam were restored last year and work of rebuilding the inside of the building and the mill machinery will be completed this summer.

The restored machinery will be put in operation and the unique historic park opened to the public as soon as millwrights complete their work. The mill was built in 1820, by the federal government to fulfill treaty obligations with the Wyandot Indians on a reservation north of Upper Sandusky.

Expert Says U.S. Is Losing War on Traffic Accidents

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation is losing the war on traffic accidents, a safety authority said today.

He suggested that the know-how and resources of business and industry may well be the secret weapon to win the fight.

"The nation has turned to business and industry for special effort time after time when wars have seemed to be going against us," said Paul Jones of the National Safety Council, "and never have business and industry failed to come through."

Deaths on the nation's highways last year were estimated at 40,000, one of the highest in history, said Jones in a prepared speech to the Office Management Assn. of Chicago.

Jones, the council's director of public information, said that nearly twice as many Americans have been killed in traffic accidents than in all of the country's wars—including the Revolution.

2 Marion Youths Held in Kentucky

Two teen-age Marion boys reportedly are in custody of the FBI in Kentucky charged with transporting a stolen automobile across a state line.

Marion police said today they had little information on the youths and did not know where they are being held. Police here said the pair allegedly stole an automobile in Marion last week and drove it to Circleville where they abandoned it, stole another car and drove it into Kentucky where they were apprehended and turned over to the FBI.

The car stolen here had some guns in it and local police have not been able to determine whether or not the guns were recovered with the car, city police reported today.

Insurance Bill Due for Vote In Legislature

Ohio Assembly Slates Decision on State's Compensation System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A vote is scheduled today on a bill to end the state's monopoly on injury insurance for Ohio's workers.

The vote will be taken in the House Insurance Committee, which decided late Tuesday to postpone its verdict 24 hours.

The bill would permit Ohio employers to buy their workmen's compensation insurance from private firms. For many years, only the state has been allowed to insure against on-the-job injuries.

Taft Is Sponsor

The measure to permit private insurance firms to enter the workmen's compensation field is sponsored by Sen. Robert Taft Jr. (R-Hamilton). Organized labor is the chief opponent.

Another spotlight fight in the Legislature is due to erupt tonight.

The House Commerce and Transportation Committee is scheduled to listen to arguments on a bill which would force the state Highway Department to pay the cost of relocating public utility facilities displaced by changes in the routes of state highways. Utilities now pay for relocating their own facilities.

Opponents of the proposal contend it is a 100 million dollar-plus "grab" by the utility interests.

Rep. D. O. Taber (R-Gallia) claims the backing of the administration of Gov. C. William O'Neill for his bill to bar utility lines from highway rights-of-way.

Two Extremes

The two proposals appear to be about as far apart as possible in the philosophy of administering public affairs.

The Senate earlier passed and sent to the House by a 33-0 vote a bill to require 178 days of five hours each as the minimum school year which any Ohio district can offer. House approval seems likely.

Present law provides a 180-day school year, but makes allowances for legal holidays. The 178-day bill allows no holidays, but provides two free days a year for teacher workshops.

The House Health Committee virtually killed a proposal to create a state board of chiropractic examiners to regulate the practice and license practitioners. It voted to suspend further consideration of the proposal indefinitely.

Memorial Bill

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to permit one special bond-issue election a year for a veterans' memorial with a reduction in the required favorable vote from 65 per cent to 60 per cent.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill changing the law on city zoning.

The bill, which had no Senate opposition, would outlaw businesses which fail to conform to zoning regulations if they discontinue operations for two years or more after a zoning regulation is adopted. The change would apply only to those non-conforming businesses which were in operation at the time zoning regulations are adopted.

Sen. Fred Hoffman (R-Hamilton) offered a constitutional proposal which would repeal a hefty section of deadwood in the Ohio constitution. He wants to kill off a section covering the apportionment of common pleas judges among the Ohio counties.

Fahey Bank Given Okay for Branch

NEW DRIVE-IN BANK. An architect's drawing of the new Fahey Banking Co. drive-in branch to be located at the southeast corner of E. Center St. and Forest Lawn Blvd. is shown here. Francis Huber, president and treasurer of the company, said that final approval was received for the branch Monday from the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System in Washington. Construction cost of the new facility will be an estimated $60,000-$70,000, he said.

A one-story structure with full basement, the branch will provide full banking facilities, including a safety depository. The building will be of glass and brick construction and will have year-around air conditioning. It will be 50 by 34 feet in size and will have a lobby, a work area, a vault and a work and lounge room inside.

There will be one drive-in window facility with provisions for adding a second at a later date if it is needed. A parking lot will have accommodations for some 20 automobiles at one time.

Mr. Huber said that plans are to start construction as soon as possible and it is expected the building will be open in late fall. Plans are nearing completion and the specifications are now being written, he said. The plans should be put out for bids within the next two or three weeks, he noted.

"We are building the new drive-in facility in the eastern section of the city because that is the fastest growing residential area and is most in need of banking facilities," he said.

The new building was designed by the local architectural firm of Burris and Edwards.

Prisoner's Request Denied by Judge

In an action in Common Pleas Court this morning, Judge Paul D. Smith denied the writ of habeas corpus petition of Roy G. Durham, an inmate of the Marion Correctional Institution.

Durham, in a petition filed March 2, alleged that he was being held illegally and without cause and asked that he be freed from the jurisdiction of Lamoyne Green, superintendent of the Marion institution.

The petitioner began serving a one-to-three year sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary on a non-support charge Feb. 22, 1954. Subsequently, on Feb. 16, 1955, he was paroled and was later arrested by Wooster, O., police and sentenced to 30 days in the Wayne County jail on an assault and battery charge. After serving the time he was returned to the penitentiary for violation of his parole where the state pardon and parole board extended his time of imprisonment beyond the maximum date set originally.

Durham, transferred from Columbus to Marion Jan. 11, 1956, alleged that the law did not specifically allow for such an extension and so petitioned for his release.

Airlines

Three Delta Airlines planes were searched Tuesday night at Newark, Houston, Tex., and Charlotte, N.C. The airline reported it had received a telephoned bomb threat at its Philadelphia office, saying that a bomb was aboard a plane bound for Newark.

Investigators combed through 300 pieces of luggage taken off three United Airlines planes in Philadelphia without finding anything after a man called the company's office Tuesday night and said: "There's a bomb in the cargo pit of your next plane coming into International Airport."

Shortly before midnight while FBI and police investigators were at the Philadelphia airport, Eastern Airlines received a call. An Eastern plane bound for Miami was delayed a half-hour while it was searched.

Business Procedures Studied by FFA Group

A chapter business procedure demonstration was given by the Future Farmers of America chapters of Wyandot County Tuesday in the Nevada school auditorium. The event was under sponsorship of the Ohio Association of Future Farmers of America.

Each team demonstrated parliamentary procedure and judging was based on the manner of handling the various items of business. Judges were John Watkins of Prospect and James Sisson of California. Teams were rated according to gold, silver and bronze. Winning the top or gold awards were Upper Sandusky, Harpster and Salem-Wyandot chapters. Silver awards went to Sycamore and Nevada chapters and bronze awards went to Marselles, McCutchenville and Wharton chapters.

sometimes been more concerned with the prestige of the Egyptian dictator than with the fulfillment of Egypt's international obligations or the preservation of peace in the Middle East."

Before his statement Ben-Gurion won what were virtually two votes of confidence. The Knesset defeated two opposition proposals for a debate 51-24 and 53-44.

Egypt's surprise announcement that it was again taking over civil control of Gaza came Monday, but spokesmen for Egypt's Palestine Department still gave no indication when Egyptian administrators would move in.

Meanwhile, diplomats conferred at a furious pace in Cairo, Washington and at U.N. headquarters. Tension was eased somewhat by a statement from an Egyptian official that the Cairo government has no plans for the present to send troops into Gaza to back up a civil administration. This apparently meant UNEF would serve as a border buffer between Egyptian and Israeli forces for the time being.

Dag Going to Cairo

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was reported leaving Saturday for Cairo to talk with Egyptian and U.N. officials on the continuing controversy. Informants said he would remain on the Middle East scene "as long as is necessary."

A source close to Hammarskjöld said it was not certain whether the secretary general would go to Gaza and Israel.

The U.S. State Department got out a statement—which officials said was meant primarily for Egypt—urging cooperation with the U.N. "to maintain peace and tranquility" in the Middle East. It said the U.S. government strongly supported the role of the U.N. and "specifically the functioning of the U.N. Emergency Force."

In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir called in U.S. Ambassador Edward B. Lawson to express "most serious concern" at the Gaza developments. She also instructed Abba Eban, Israel's ambassador to Washington, to cut short a Florida vacation and return to his post for urgent talks with the State Department.

Minister Reuben Shiloah, in charge of the Israeli Embassy in Washington in Eban's absence, met 40 minutes Tuesday night with Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter to present Israel's views. He was understood to have indicated Israel might feel free to exercise its right of self-defense should Egypt again take control of Gaza.

Iowa Farmers' Group Seeks Weather Controls

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A group of Iowa farmers are trying to do something about the weather. They've incorporated a new firm called Central Iowa Weather Modification Assn.

The organization, with headquarters at Jefferson, Iowa, says its purpose is to "stimulate and encourage research into and practice of the most efficient and economical methods of weather modification, for the benefit of the area in which the members own or operate farm lands."

Marion Directory Due by Next Fall

The new issue of the Marion City Directory should be ready for delivery sometime next fall. That's the latest word from A. A. Greiner of Columbus, representative of R. L. Folk and Co., publishers of the directory. Mr. Greiner, together with Richard Birkenbach and Charles Minshall, are in Marion now taking orders for the directory.

The new directory will include the same features of the 1956 issue, with one addition. The latest publication will include telephone numbers on the same pages with the names of individuals and their street addresses. Heretofore, only symbols have indicated homes where phones are connected.

The directory will, besides this new feature, include the alphabetical list of names, the list of street addresses, the numerical telephone guide, a classified buyer's guide, a classified business directory, and a rural route directory.

Another new feature of the 1957 directory will be the moving of the buyer's guide and classified business directory to the front of the book. The move is expected to facilitate use of the book for those seeking information from these two sections.

over their construction. The vote to adopt the ordinance authorizing employment of the engineer and the two inspectors was 9-0.

Mr. Bigelow told council that he had only one person in mind for the sanitary engineer job and said that he was a registered engineer and fully qualified to serve as a city sanitary engineer and as a resident engineer on sewer construction projects. He further said that as soon as possible after the man was employed that he would bring him before council in a special meeting so that the councilmen might interview him and determine to their own satisfaction that he is qualified for the position.

Mr. Courtwright said the special meeting for tomorrow night was called by himself, Mr. Lister, Mr. Corwin, Ralph Williams, Fourth Ward, and Emmett Osterholt, Sixth Ward.

Labor Group To Oppose Daylight Time for City

The Marion Central Labor Union unanimously passed a resolution opposing the adoption of an ordinance to institute Daylight Saving Time for Marion.

This action was taken by the group at its meeting Tuesday night. Carl Bryant, vice president, was in charge.

Two Cases Settled

KENTON — Two suits charging wrongful death filed by Charles L. Miller of Kenton, administrator of the estates of James E. Miller and Norman L. Miller, against Dallas F. Parhamore and Bruce Butler of Mount Victory were settled out of court Tuesday.

The suits were for $35,000 each and stemmed from the deaths of the two boys by an automobile allegedly driven by Parhamore.

Pacific Search On for Missing Tanker Plane

TOKYO—Eight U.S. navy planes combed the Western Pacific today, seeking a U.S. Air Force tanker plane missing with 10 crewmen aboard.

In central Japan a four-man Air Force medical team parachuted to a mountain spot about four miles from what was believed to be the wreckage of a missing C47 transport. Four men had been aboard the C47.

The aerial tanker, a KB50, left Yokota Air Base just west of Tokyo Tuesday night and was scheduled to reach Wake 7 1/2 hours later. The Air Force announced it was missing after it reckoned all its fuel was gone and no report was received of its landing.

The wreckage believed that of the missing transport was spotted 9,000 feet up on a 9,500-foot mountain about 200 miles northwest of Tokyo. Aerial spotters saw no sign of life about the plane.

Helicopters were sent to help, but the Air Force said heavy snow probably would prevent the medical team reaching the wreckage before Thursday.

Budget

The House resolution, supported by 209 Democrats and 10 Republicans, said cuts must be made "in the public interest." It requested Eisenhower to "indicate the places and amounts in his budget where he thinks reductions may best be made."

Against the measure were 3 Democrats and 175 Republicans. Some of the latter accused the Democrats of "back passing."

Final passage came after 160-142 rejection of a Republican substitute by Rep. Gubser of California. He proposed commending Eisenhower and Budget Director Brundage for their request to government agencies to review their budgets and report where savings could be made.

Claim Responsibility Ike's
Democrats argued the President has the responsibility to effect economies and Republicans said the Democrats were ducking their responsibilities.

Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts said — in obvious reference to Secretary Humphrey's call for economies — that "this is the first time in the history of this country that Cabinet officers have repudiated the President (the U.S. States)."

Rep. Arends (R-Ill.) said House members were "indulging ourselves in a great big dose of politics." Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.) said the resolution was "a kind of cry-baby act."

bosses to take over control of the city.

Crosby testified the Teamsters Union paid hotel, telephone and airline travel expenses for one of the Seattle gamblers, Tom Maloney, but said it was his own idea, not that of West Coast teamsters czar Frank Brewster. Brewster is to testify Thursday.

Crosby was asked also about the destruction of records wanted by the committee. He said he didn't "know for sure" when asked whether records of the Teamsters Union Joint Council 37 had been destroyed.

"I think there are some records of invoice and canceled check status that have been destroyed," he said.

Near the end of Tuesday's testimony Crosby repeated a number of times that he couldn't recall meeting with Elkins and Tom Sheridan, a discharged enforcement officer of the Oregon State Liquor Commission Crosby said he interviewed for Sheridan and helped get him his job back but not, as he could recall, at Elkins' urging.

The committee contacted Sheridan by a telephone call to Portland while the hearing was still going on and Crosby was still on the stand.

McClellan announced to the hearing that Sheridan confirmed there was a Sheridan-Crosby-Elkins meeting in Crosby's office. Sheridan said he was willing to testify to this later on if summoned.

A reporter asked Crosby whether he would offer to take a lie detector test. He said he would not.

IMPROVEMENTS PREDICTED

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An estimated $160,000,000 will be spent in 1957 on expanding and improving this country's communication system, federal, state and rural roads; railroads; and mail, telegraph and telephone services.

AFTER RECORD FLIGHT. The Boeing 707 taxis along a runway at Friendship International Airport in Baltimore after clipping 10 minutes from the transcontinental passenger plane record in a three hour and 48 minute dash from Seattle with 52 persons aboard. The four-jet craft spanned 2,330 miles.

Ike 'Improved' After Checkup At Walter Reed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new physical examination at Walter Reed Army Hospital shows President Eisenhower's condition is "improved," the White House doctor says.

But he still has not recovered completely from a cough, a head cold and an ear ailment, and so he "still hopes and expects" to get away to Florida later in the week in an effort to clear up those troubles. The ailments were described as "slight."

That was the gist of reports from Eisenhower's physician Maj. Gen. Howard Mc Snyder and his press secretary James C. Hagerty after the President returned from an hour's checkup at Walter Reed yesterday.

It was his second visit to the hospital in less than a month. He went there Feb. 21 for a checkup on a lingering cough, the aftermath of a cold which Snyder had caught in January.

Last week, with the cough still hanging on, Eisenhower developed a new head cold and inflammation of the eustachian tube in the left ear. The ear trouble made it temporarily difficult for him to hear.

The new checkup included X-rays, which Hagerty said showed the chest and lungs are clear.

Eisenhower has made tentative plans to go to Florida for some sun and exercise in advance of March 21-24 talks at Bermuda with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Driver Escapes Injury In Morrow Auto Crash

A Mansfield driver was involved in the single Morrow County accident investigated by patrolmen of the Marion post Tuesday.

The westbound auto driven by Joseph L. Outlaw, 35, of Mansfield, reportedly was forced off Route 30-S, five miles southwest of Galion at 7:15 a.m. by an east-bound car passing another vehicle.

Patrolmen said the Outlaw auto struck a culvert barrel at the side of the road, doing extensive damage to the front end of the car. The accident still is under investigation. The driver of the passing auto was unknown. No injuries were sustained.

Daily Worker's Editor Takes 5th Amendment

NEW YORK (AP)—John Gates, editor of the Communist newspaper "Daily Worker," today repeatedly cited the First and Fifth amendments in refusing to answer questions before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Gates scolded the committee as one that "would use any means to trap people into convictions on framed-up charges."

ing such possible nominees for reelection as GOP Sens. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Jenner (Ind.), and Malone (Nev.).

Eisenhower replied he does not think it necessary for him to say what he might do in what he termed hypothetical cases.

In 1952 Eisenhower announced a policy of blanket endorsement of all Republican nominees for Congress. He did not do that in 1954 or last year, but he did not specifically withhold endorsement of any party nominees.

Several weeks ago Eisenhower said in response to a question regarding such senators as McCarthy, Jenner and Malone that he could not look to them for full support on all his policies.

Today Eisenhower said Alcorn in stating his views had spoken out in his capacity as head of the GOP National Committee.

Beck Case Prejudged

Beck — Eisenhower was asked whether Secretary of Labor Mitchell may have "prejudged" any case against Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, by abandoning the administration's announced plan to name Beck as a U.S. representative to an International Labor Organization conference at Hamburg, Germany. That plan was abandoned after a Senate investigating committee ran into difficulty in its efforts to get Beck to come before the committee for questioning in an inquiry into labor racketeering.

The President went on to say that it was exactly because they did not want to prejudice the case that plans to send Beck to the ILO meeting were dropped. Eisenhower added that he personally did not want to prejudice the matter, and that actually he knew not a thing about it.

Lima Youth Is Winner In Farm Record Contest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert Riemesch, a senior at Shawnee High School near Lima, has been declared winner of an annual statewide farm record-keeping contest for Future Farmers of America.

The Ohio Bankers' Assn., which sponsors the contest, announced the results today. As a result of the selection, Riemesch and three of his classmates, together with his teacher, John T. Starling, will receive an expense-paid trip to the National Future Farmers of America Conference in Kansas City next fall.

The classmates who will join Riemesch are Ellsworth Kohl Jr., James Phillips and Tom Winegardner. All three live on farms on Rt. 6, Lima.

Mrs. Frederick Rea of 650 Buckley Ave. reported that two hub caps were stolen from her car while it was parked on the city parking lot at W. Church and S. Prospect streets Monday night. Two hub caps valued at $20 were reported stolen from a car parked on the Danner Buick Co. lot on Holmes Pl. Monday night.

Gun Stocks Given New Bright Color Treatment

CHICAGO (AP)—Shotgun gun stocks are taking on a new hue. William G. Krebs, representative of a Worcester, Mass., arms manufacturing firm, introduced a brilliant "hunter safety" red lacquered stock on a .410 gauge shotgun at the National Sporting Goods Association Show. The stock also is furnished in green, blue, yellow, black and blond.

He says it is a new feature designed to develop hunter safety.

No Pressure Put on Egypt, Bunche Says

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche said today "no attempt has been made to postpone arrival of the Egyptian administration" in the Gaza Strip.

Bunche, who worked out the 1949 Arab-Israeli armistices, made the statement to newsmen after he had a 90-minute conference with Egyptian President Nasser.

He said the Egyptian administration "will have the full cooperation of UNEF," the U.N. force which moved into the Gaza area when Israeli troops gave up the area last week.

"UNEF has no administration in Gaza and no intention to internationalize the Gaza Strip," Bunche added.

Farrell Refuses To Give Yanks Edge in Flag Race

'We'll Give Them a Fight,' Says New Skipper of Tribe

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians refuse to subscribe to the popular belief that the New York Yankees only have to show up to win the American League race again.

When asked the other day if maybe he didn't think the Yanks would win the pennant, rookie Manager Kerby Farrell barked: "I do not. I concede the Yanks nothing. They have to beat us to win it and you can bet we'll give them a fight."

Farrell has no worries about his front-line pitchers. Three of them loosened up in Tuesday's 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs at Tucson, Ariz. Bob Lemon gave up only one hit in the first three innings. Then Art Houtteman yielded three in the middle three and Don Mossi held the Cubs to two in the final three.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, always hot during the exhibition season, won their fourth game without a defeat by turning back the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-4 at Tampa. Philadelphia and Boston each broke into the win column, the Phillies licking the Washington Senators 4-2 at Clearwater and the Red Sox defeating the Yanks 1-0 at St. Petersburg.

The Red Sox, who have yet to show any punch, beat the Yanks on a fluke run in the 13th inning. With two out and the bases loaded Bill Skowron, being tried at third base on an experiment by Manager Casey Stengel, stumbled after fielding an easy grounder. When he recovered, all hands were safe and Jim Piersall had scored.

In other games, the St. Louis Cardinals, behind home runs by Billy Moon and Del Ennis, blasted the Kansas City A's at Palm Beach 2-4; the Milwaukee Braves

New Team Takes Lead In Tourney

With four days of bowling completed in the annual City Bowling Tournament, Red Top Beer tops all teams participating, while Dick Detwiler and Richard Shirk take the doubles competition.

Action is scheduled to continue tonight, with team activity on both a 6 45 and 9 p.m. card.

As of now, Red Top Beer holds the top team spot on the strength of a 2979-pin score. CIO is second with a 2945 tally, while the Indians are third with a mark of 2927. Fourth place is held by the Marion Recreation team, while Schoenling Beer is in fifth. These last two teams have scores of 2861 and 2850 respectively.

In doubles competition, the Detwiler-Shirk team has rolled up 1,317 pins to date. The Gene Shene-field-Harry Yager duo is in the second spot with a 1235 score, while William Hoffman and William Bomberger have amassed 1,234 pins for the current third highest spot. Jack Young and Ralph Weber are in fourth with a 1,222-pin score, while the team of Earl Cottrill-Everett Trubee holds down the fifth spot by virtue of a 1216 count.

In singles action, which is scheduled to get under way again Sunday, the first five places are held by the following bowlers, noted with their respective scores: Robert Rinner, 700; Jack Young, 691; Herb Petrich, 668; Ron Jerew and L. Ford, tied at 662.

Sunday's activities will include both singles and doubles matches, with sessions slated for 7:15 and 9:15 p.m. Team bowling will get under way at 12:45 p.m.

All told, 136 teams are entered in this year's tourney competition. Some 275 two-man units are rolling, while 322 individuals are vying for top prizes. Keglers taking part in Class A and Class B, all events total 78 and 42 respectively, making this year's event the biggest yet.

Action will continue through the rest of this week and into the weekend of April 14.

OPEN LEAGUE CHAMPIONS. The Hunt Milling Co basketball team recently won the Marion City YMCA Open League hardcourt title. Saturday they were eliminated in the first regional tourney at the local Y by the Strayer Insurance five from Bellevue. The count was 74-61. Front row (left to right), Charles Kincaid, presenting trophy for the city title; Ted Miller, manager; and Clarence McMahon, Joe McDaniel and Jim Fox. Edison Junior High Athletes To Hear Muskingum's Coach

Ed Sherman, Muskingum College athletic director and head football coach will speak at the Edison Junior High School athletic banquet Thursday, at 6 p.m. in the Marion YMCA.

Mr. Sherman has completed 12 years at the New Concord Institution. During that time he has established an outstanding record as one of the most astute small college football coaches in the nation.

In 1955 Sherman's football team went through the season undefeated and untied, winning for Sherman his third Ohio Conference title. Previous conference championships had been won in 1949 and 1950. That same year, 1955, Sherman was selected by Ohio's collegiate football coaches as the "1955 Ohio College Football Coach of the Year."

Sherman was an All-Central Ohio League quarterback at Newark High School. He enrolled at Muskingum and graduated in 1936, returning to Newark as a coach. After a year, 1943, as an assistant coach at Muskingum, he joined the staff of Miami University as backfield coach under Sid Gillman. Another season found him back at Muskingum, 1945, this time as head football coach, track coach, and athletic director.

Manager Sees Big Year for Braves' Aaron

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — What does a fellow have to do to make a major league manager happy? All Henry Louis Aaron did in 1956 for the Milwaukee Braves was hit .328 — good enough for the National League batting championship — play 153 games, compile 200 base hits including 34 doubles, 14 triples and 26 home runs. He drove in 92 runs.

But his manager, Fred Haney, believes Aaron was far from his peak.

"He's a .350 hitter at least," Haney said Tuesday before the Braves met the Detroit Tigers in an exhibition contest at Bradenton. "He's only 23 years old and he has a long way to go."

Expecting Improvement

Haney believes Aaron will improve all facets of his baseball game in 1957. It's entirely possible the Negro slugger might hit the .350 Haney talks about and increase both his home run and RBI totals.

Aaron made the jump to the major leagues in 1954 direct from Class A ball. In his first season he batted .280. The following year his average increased to .314; he more than doubled his home run production and hiked his runs batted in by 37.

The manager is set on two-thirds of his outfield with Aaron in right and speedy Bill Bruton in center. He's not so happy with Bob Thomson in left. The Flying Scot hit only .235 last season.

Haney said bluntly that if Thomson doesn't pick up on his hitting fill-ins for that post are West Covington, who batted .283 in 75 games with the Braves last year; Andy Paiko, the old veteran who hit .258 in 45 games; Jim Pendleton (.289 at Wichita), Chuck Tanner (.238 in 63 at bats with Milwaukee), Earl Hersh (.307, Wichita) and Everett Joyner (.344 at Shreveport).

Pitching Staff Set

"I don't think we have a worry in the world as far as our pitching and defense is concerned," said Haney, who took over the Milwaukee club in mid-season of 1956 after Charlie Grimm was permitted to resign.

Haney drew a comparison between the Braves of 1957 and the Dodgers of a few years ago.

Owen Records New City High, Posts 290 Single

A new high for Marion City bowlers was recorded Tuesday night when Ernie Owen, rolling for Elks' team of the Sportsman's League at the Palace Recreation Center, turned in a neat 290 single-game score.

Owen got a spare in the first frame of his big game, then racked up 11 successive strikes to account for the tally. He finished with a 675 series. The previous single game high for the year was a 278 turned in by Tony Caprine of the Classic League's Riviera Bar team.

Heckling Fan Irritates U.S. Net Champion

BOSTON (AP) — Heckling and razzing from the paying customers may be all right in some sports, but as far as big Pancho Gonzales is concerned there's no place for it in tennis.

A temperamental outburst by the pro tennis king completely overshadowed his fine performance in defeating Aussie Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 5-7, 24-22, before 4,882 Tuesday night at the Boston Garden.

A heckler seated in a section next to the press box in the first balcony upset Gonzales with such shouts as "into the net." Harsh looks from Pancho served only to bring more comment from the spectator.

Gonzales finally lost his composure completely after dropping his service while holding a 13-12 lead in the deciding set.

He blasted the ball in the direction of the heckler, but his aim was not as true as on the court. The ball deflected off the hand of a press box occupant and grazed the top of a writer's head.

Smith can play either offense or defense but Coach Sid Gillman may try him first at offensive guard. Smith is also a place kicker.

Banks Faces Shift in Cubs' Infield Setup

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Ernie Banks, star shortstop for the Chicago Cubs the last three years, might find himself at first base this season.

Talk of shifting Banks began last summer when rookie Jerry Kindall filled in at shortstop capable while Banks was nursing a sore hand.

Ernie is suffering from a sore shoulder and hasn't been able to throw so far this spring. Banks is in Los Angeles receiving treatment and will rejoin the Cubs Friday when they reach Los Angeles.

Billy Pierce To Make Debut Against Brooks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Billy Pierce, the Chicago White Sox ace left-hander, will make his 1957 pitching debut against the Brooklyn Dodgers today. Pierce had a 20-9 record last year to become the White Sox' first 20-game winner since Thornton Lee in 1941.

The Sox bowed to Brooklyn, 8-4, Tuesday night giving them a 2-2 exhibition record.

Cunningham Stars In Cardinal Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Young Joe Cunningham is making a strong bid to become Stan Musial's stand-in at first base for the St. Louis Cardinals this season.

The 24-year-old Cunningham made several brilliant saves in the field at first base Tuesday and highlighted a six-run seventh inning with a three-run double as the Red Birds beat the Kansas City A's, 12-4, for their third Grapefruit League victory in four starts.

A leg injury slowed Cunningham down last season in spring training and he failed to make the club after an outstanding finish at the tailend of the 1955 season.

Tigers Blanked 1-0 By Braves' Hurlers

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves says that shortstop Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers "is quite a hitter."

The veteran Braves left-hander faced the Tigers for three innings Tuesday as Milwaukee took a 1-0 victory. The only hit Spahn gave up in three innings was a single to Kuenn.

"He raps the ball right at you," said Spahn, "and always gets the fat part of the bat on the ball. He hits it where it's pitched. That guy's one of the best in baseball."

Bill Goes to Senate

10-Day Season for Quail Hunting Proposed in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Ohio's quails are smart, they'll start singing as loud as they can now and keep it up until next fall.

And even that might not keep them getting peppered with shotgun pellets next fall when, if a bill in the Legislature is enacted, they become fair game for a 10-day period.

It was the quails' "songbird" classification that kept them protected from hunters for 40 years. Five years ago they were put back on the "gamebird" list, presumably to give the state Wildlife Division authority to spend public funds to propagate the birds.

Tuesday night, the Senate Conservation Committee recommended 4-3 to put the quail on the shooting list for 35 southern Ohio counties, where quail are plentiful.

The proposal also would permit quail hunting in the 53 northern counties, but only on state-owned land, because quail are relatively scarce there. A trial period would be needed to see if the quail population could survive a hunting season.

Sen. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) sponsored the measure.

Redlegs, Phils At Stalemate In Trade Talk

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — It looks as if that Cincinnati Redlegs-Philadelphia Phillies deal for third baseman Willie Jones is stalemated.

Phil's General Manager Roy Haney said Tuesday: "We're no closer to a deal with Cincinnati for Jones than we were last winter. The Reds want Jones but so far all they've offered are players like Don Hoak and Alex Grammas. They've never mentioned outfielder Gus Bell in any discussion about Jones."

Hoak and Grammas are infielders.

Milwaukee Team Nails Lead in ABC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Milwaukee team shot into first place today in the open team division of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The Kearney and Trecker Co. No. 1 squad smashed out a 2,896 score Tuesday night to move into the lead in the fourth day of the 51-day bowling marathon.

Vern Samuelson paced the squad with a three game score of 618. Gay Ellis of Lubbock, Tex., moved into the first in the all-events standings Tuesday with a nine game total of 1,843. Ellis, a 33-year-old optician shot series of 648, 638 and 587 for his best scores in 18 years of bowling.

He paired with Ray Dischof of Lubbock to move into the doubles lead with a pace setting score of 1,240.

Dischof, 26, a native of Chicago, is playing in his first ABC tourney.

The 657 score posted earlier by Glenn Vaughn of Fort Wayne, Ind., stood up for the lead in the singles.

Irish Down Miami for NCAA Edge
By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer
Powerful North Carolina was on its way to Philadelphia today to resume the hectic NCAA basketball tournament struggle and boasting a 28-0 record that dangerous little Canisius College would love to smash.
The Tar Heels, the nation's No. 1 team, turned on the gas in the second half Tuesday night to thump Yale's Ivy League champions in the first round of the Eastern NCAA regionals at New York 90-74.
Canisius, of Buffalo, N.Y., humbled West Virginia, the Southern Conference champs, 64-56. Syracuse marched past Connecticut 82-76 in other games on the Madison Square Garden triple-header.

Pitt Also Wins
At Columbus, Ohio, Notre Dame racked up its 10th straight victory by clipping Miami (Ohio) 89-77, while the Pittsburgh Panthers took a last-gasp verdict from Morehead, Ky. 86-85 in the Midwest regionals.
One contest was played in the West regional, with Oklahoma City University trouncing Loyola of New Orleans 76-55 at Oklahoma City.
This completed a field of 16 teams for the next phase of the annual college scramble Friday night. The Friday winners tangle Saturday, with four teams surviving for the semifinals and finals at Kansas City March 22 and 23. Here's the pairings for Friday: Philadelphia, East regional—Lafayette (22-3) vs. Syracuse (17-6) and North Carolina (28-0) vs. Canisius (21-5).
Lexington, Midwest regional—Kentucky (22-4) vs. Pitt (18-9) and Notre Dame (19-7) vs. Michigan State (15-7).
Dallas, West regional—St. Louis (19-7) vs. Oklahoma City (18-8) and Kansas (21-2) vs. Southern Methodist (21-3).
Corvallis, Far West regional—Brigham Young (18-8) vs. California (20-4) and Idaho State (25-2) vs. San Francisco (18-6).
Second Round Slated
Meanwhile, the NAIA Tournament at Kansas City enters the second round with 16 teams headed by top-seeded Pacific Lutheran still alive.
First-round play was completed Tuesday with Pacific Lutheran downing Elon 76-61.
The NCAA small college tournament quarterfinals get under way today at Evansville, Ind., with eight teams in action, starting with Mount St. Mary's (Md.) and Rider (N.J.) at 2:30 p.m. EST. San Diego State and Los Angeles state meet in the other afternoon game. In the evening, South Dakota meets Wheaton and Buffalo (N.Y.) Univ. plays Kentucky Wesleyan.

Sale Avoided, Minneapolis' Club Remains
By The Associated Press
When the Minneapolis Lakers were consistent champions of the National Basketball Assn. a few years ago loyal hometown folks referred to their city as "the basketball capital of the world."
The glory days have passed, but the pro basketball headlines all pointed to the Minnesota city again Tuesday.
First, league headquarters in New York announced a complicated preliminary playoff setup that hinged on the Lakers winning two games. Then came the news that local investors had raised enough money to keep the Lakers in Minneapolis and voided a deal that would have sent them to Kansas City for the 1958 season. Finally, the Lakers traveled over the bridge to St. Paul and whipped the Philadelphia Warriors, 100-94.
If the Lakers take Philadelphia again tonight (the last night of the regular season) at Minneapolis, Fort Wayne beats Syracuse and St. Louis loses to Rochester, then there will be a three-way tie for first place in the western division. It would then be played off this way:
St. Louis would entertain Fort Wayne March 14, and the winner would meet the Lakers for first place. If Fort Wayne were the March 14 winner, the first place battle would be at Minneapolis March 15, but if St. Louis won, the Hawks would be host team March 16.
If Minneapolis and Fort Wayne tie for second place, then the Lakers would entertain the Pistons March 14.
The Warriors must win tonight if New York downs Boston, because a Warrior loss and a Knick win would create a tie for the third playoff berth in the eastern division. Such tie would be played off at Philly March 14 or 15. If the Warriors tie Syracuse for second, the playoff would be at Syracuse March 15.
The Laker franchise was sold conditionally to baseball figure Marty Marion and his business partner Milton Fischmann of St. Louis three weeks ago but that transaction was not to be effective if Minneapolis interests were able to match the $150,000 purchase price. They made it Tuesday — a day ahead of schedule.

The two meet in a nationally televised (ABC) 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium tonight at 9 p.m. CST.
Greaves, who has had only 14 professional fights, is subbing for Randy Sandy who injured his left hand in training and was forced to withdraw.

Hearing Slated on Anti-Trust Violations of Major Leagues
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Celler (D-NY) says he doesn't think Congress needs a full investigation to determine that major league baseball is big business and thus subject to anti-trust laws.
"As far as I'm concerned," he said in an interview Tuesday, "I don't need any hearings." And he said baseball commissioner Ford Frick is trying to play the role of grand "Pooch-Bah" for all baseball.
Celler is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and has sponsored a bill to extend anti-trust laws to baseball. The senior Republican member of that group, Rep. Keating (NY), taking the opposite view, says he favors full hearings.
Celler said he planned only short hearings, starting in another month or two.
"I think we already have investigated the matter," Celler said, referring to a 1952 Congressional probe of baseball which he headed. Congress took no action after that study.
Celler criticized Frick for suggesting that baseball people decline comment on Supreme Court decisions.
"Frick wants to gag everybody," Celler said. "He wants to be the Pooch-Bah and the only one."
Meanwhile, Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee said he was awaiting a staff report on previous studies and rulings on professional sports before deciding whether to schedule hearings on the matter.

Bomb Scare 'Hoax'
CLEVELAND (AP) — A New York-to-Detroit airliner made an unscheduled stop here Tuesday after the TWA reservation office in New York received an anonymous telephone call warning that there might be a bomb on the plane.
The 22 passengers waited in the lounge at Cleveland Hopkins Airport for more than two hours while police, postal inspectors and CAA investigators made a search of the plane. No bomb was found.

Ben Hogan Latest Idol of Japanese

NEW YORK (AP) — Ben Hogan ranks alongside Mickey Mantle as the idol of the Japanese sporting public, a returning American golf executive said today, and golf is gradually creeping up on baseball as the rage in the land of the rising sun.

"There are now some half a million golfers in Japan," said Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the International Golf Assn., "and they play the game fanatically — and well."

"Everywhere I went down there they asked me about Hogan," Corcoran said. "They were eager to hear about the size of the man they'd heard called 'Bantam Ben'."

and the "Wee Wee Mon" Being small in stature themselves, they were intrigued that a small man should attain such greatness."

Southern College Students at OWU In Exchange Plan

DELAWARE—Six students from Bennett College for women at Greensboro, N.C., are spending two weeks on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University as part of an exchange program between the northern and southern schools.

Willa Player, a 1929 graduate of Ohio Wesleyan who is president of the Negro college, wrote Clarence E. Ficken, Dean of the University, that through the program the women would receive "fresh insights."

The six women students, Theoria Houston, Veronica Dean, Shirley Waters, Jimmie English, Queen Murphy and Joanne Radford, are living in Monnett and Stuyvesant Halls and are at liberty to attend classes of their choosing.

Dean of Women Mildred Newcomb said four Ohio Wesleyan women are planning to attend classes at Bennett College from March 30 to April 13.

They are Janice East of Chandler, Ariz., Ruth Garn of Indianapolis, Ind., Marion Jones of Washington, Pa., and Elosia Lee of Coshocot.

The OWU participants were selected by a faculty committee from interested students. The cost to students involves transportation and incidentals, with room and board provided by the schools.

Lewis Carroll author of "Alice in Wonderland" was really Charles L. Dodgson. He also was a mathematician and wrote several books on geometry and trigonometry.

Prices Decline But Costs Rise, Report Reveals

The index of prices received by the nation's farmers dropped another four points, or two per cent, during February, the USDA's crop reporting service notes. This was true for almost all farm commodities, the report shows, with the exception of prices for chickens, some commercial vegetables and oranges.

The February index, at 234 per cent of its 1910-14 average, compared with 238 in January and 227 for the corresponding period, a year ago.

On the other hand, a general increase in prices of both living and production goods lifted the index of prices paid by farmers for commodities and services, including interest, taxes, and wage rates, nearly one per cent during the month. Prices of food, feeder cattle and motor supplies headed the list of cost increases, the report pointed out.

This advance established a new all-time high for the parity index, with figures reading five per cent higher than a year earlier. With farm product prices off almost two per cent during February, the parity ratio dropped back to 80, the post-World War II low. This level was first established in November of 1935, the report concludes.

Caledonia Farmer Is Named to Board

Leroy J. Hinamon, Claridon Township farmer, has been approved by the Ohio Soil Conservation Committee as a member of the Marion Soil Conservation District's board of supervisors, according to W. L. Williams, head of the local soils office.

Mr. Hinamon will complete the unexpired term of John Ruth who resigned from the board some weeks ago because of a press of duties. The term expires with the end of 1957.

Other members of the board of supervisors include Arthur Isler, chairman; Kensei Clutter, vice chairman; and Calvin W. Baldinger, Vernon Beaver and Kensei Clutter. Mr. Hinamon has been a district conservation cooperators since 1953. He farms 140 acres in the Caledonia community.

Date for Annual County Achievement Day Is Set

The date for the annual Marion County Homemakers Achievement Day has been set for April 4, according to Miss Gussie Smith, county home economist. Arrangements and plans for the location and other details of this popular event were to be determined at a meeting of council members in the YMCA Tuesday afternoon.

Edison FFA Chapter Sponsors Annual Banquet

Anniversary Meeting Is Highlight of Chapter's 12-Month Activities

The success of many of the youth organizations in Marion or any of her surrounding counties is, in large measure, dependent upon the enthusiasm and encouragement given the youngsters who make up the club's membership by parents, school faculty members and other individuals interested. This is held true whether the organization be a 4-H club, FFA chapter, or FHA group.

Many of the Marion and area groups have this cooperation. Perhaps some do not. One which definitely does have this important element of cooperative determination is Morrow County's Edison High School FFA chapter.

Last week approximately 150 persons gathered in the Edison gymnasium to observe the 7th anniversary of the founding of the school's chapter. Sponsored each year by the chapter itself, funds for the event are provided from the several projects conducted and engaged in over the preceding year.

The Edison program, by and large, was no different than similar affairs taking place last week, and in days to come, about Marion and its surrounding counties. Yet this banquet was at once a tribute to the parents and members of the organization, as well as an example to all FFA and other youth groups of the community enthusiasm and interest that helps make these organizations successful.

Upper Girls Are New Angus Group Members

Beth J. and Jill K. Borton, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Borton of Upper Sandusky, have been awarded junior memberships in the American Angus Association, according to association spokesmen.

The girls were among 25 young people throughout the nation granted junior memberships in the organization during February. Junior memberships enable the girls to register their Angus stock.

MACHINERY CAPABILITIES

If the best, most modern farming methods were used, approximately one-third of the family farms in the country would be unable to provide full-time work for one able-bodied operator. So says the USDA.

CHAPTER CHOOSES SWEETHEART. A "first" was established by the Edison FFA Chapter last week when the members chose Bonnie Trout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trout, as the chapter's sweetheart. tative to the Ohio state legislature; T. A. Gantz, Morrow county superintendent of schools; and D. R. Purkey, state FFA executive secretary and assistant supervisor of vocational agriculture.

FEATURED SPEAKER on the program was Mount Gilead's Rev. David W. Sken, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church. Rev. Sken paid tribute to the Edison group for their accomplishments since the chapter's founding. Mr. Purkey commented on the recently completed new vocational - agriculture building at the Edison school and declared that "you have made us proud with your new facilities." Mr. Purkey added that the new addition would not have been possible without the enthusiastic cooperation of the par-

Corn Program Allotments for Marion Noted

A total of $243,466 has been allotted to Marion County for corn soil bank payments on the 1957 crop, according to Frank Montgomery, head of the local ASC office.

Mr. Montgomery reports there were 221 agreements signed for the program on corn as of the March 8 deadline. These agreements encompass some 49,550 of the county's farming acres. Of this amount, 2,969 acres were signed into the acreage reserve program. Maximum compensation for this latter amount is $154,597, the ASC head explained.

A total of 43 agreements requested an additional 561 acres of land. About $29,561 would be needed to finance that many more acres, Mr. Montgomery notes. April 15 had been set as the deadline for acres signed to the conservation program, with $100,113 allotted for that program. Farmers may get started on those applications any time, the ASC office declares.

Mr. Montgomery also points out that loans or purchase agreements on wheat, oats, barley and rye may be redeemed or taken over by the Commodity Credit Corporation anytime after March 31. Soybean loans will be handled after April 30.

A "FIRST" FOR the annual Edison event was recorded when Bonnie Trout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trout, was presented an FFA jacket as the chapter's "sweetheart." Making the presentation was Gary Pangborn, secretary of the chapter, and Allen Shoaf, the group's reporter.

Marion Dairyman Is Citation Winner

Paul Lawrence, farming near Marion, has been named one of four outstanding dairymen in Ohio for 1956, according to Ellwood Parrott, Marion County extension agent.

Mr. Lawrence, the three other outstanding dairymen, and the state's eight outstanding Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisors will be honored at a dairy achievement banquet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Pomerene Hall on the Ohio State University campus. Bronze plaques will be awarded each man named.

The annual selections are made by the National Dairy Products Corporation, the Northern Ohio Breeders Association and the Central Ohio Breeders Association. The event is sponsored by the Ohio Dairyman's Association and the Dairy Science Extension Service.

USDA Report Notes Rise for Farm Exports

Agricultural exports for the nation as a whole set new records for value and quantity in the first seven months of the current fiscal year, according to a report from the USDA.

The estimated value of $2.75 billion was some 45 per cent above the corresponding monthly period of 1955-56, when the total was $1.9 billion.

The only previous record for value was 1951-52, when the July-to-January total was approximately $2.44 billion.

Value Shifts Noted

The major value shifts by commodities included wheat, double; feed grains, down one-fifth; oilseeds and vegetable oils, larger by nearly one-fifth; fruits and vegetables, up nearly one-third; livestock products, up about one-tenth, according to the report.

Exports during January of this year are estimated at $450 million, compared with $258 million for the corresponding period a year ago, and $452 million in December of 1956. The USDA points out that exports normally decline from December to January.

Exports on Increase

Compared with a year earlier, January, 1957, farm exports were up 74 per cent in value and 88 per cent in quantity.

The flow of this nation's agricultural products abroad in the July-January, 1956-57 period, the report indicates, was at the annual rate of $4.7 billion.

Notes the agriculture department: "Principal stimulants to the high rate of exports have been strong economic activity abroad, and expanded government export programs, together with foreign supply shortages, increased dollar receipts, and rising population abroad."

In short, an increase in exports was said to be a must if US agriculturists were to prosper this year. The demand from abroad is apparently encouraging just such a movement.

Banquet Fetes 100 Holstein Raisers Here

About 100 Marion and area Holstein breeders attended the annual Marion County Holstein Association banquet and meeting last week in the Claridon School.

The dinner was served by members of United Grange. The program opened with a report by Warren Yaussey, association secretary-treasurer. Richard Lawrence introduced the guests and a quartet composed of Billy Hough, Ralph Reed, David Schiefer and Jack Maxim sang several numbers.

Ferd Lawrence reported that the National Holstein Futurity, an organization founded by the Marion county club, now has 81 entries for the organization's show in 1958. In addition, 88 breeders have entered an intention of participating in the 1959 futurity showing.

Mr. Lawrence also announced that Marion will join Morrow and Richland counties for a District Black and White Show, scheduled to be held July 4, 1957. A new auxiliary organization, the "Cow Belles," is also being formed in this area and plans were discussed for the organization of either a new 4-H club or dairy group. Featured speaker on the program was H. W. Dodge, publisher of the Ohio Holstein News. Mr. Dodge reviewed the state's position as "home of the Holsteins."

Grading, Packing Eggs Is Big Business in Ohio

Ohio ranks fifth in the number of eggs graded and packed under the official grading program, according to the Ohio department of agriculture's bureau of markets.

The present egg-grading service was inaugurated in the state in 1932 and in the ensuing quarter century, the bureau notes, literally millions of Buckeye state eggs have been graded and tons of poultry inspected by federal-state graders.

In the period from July 1, 1955, to July 1, 1956, approximately 2,554,057 thirty-dozen cases of eggs were graded in Ohio under the bureau's supervision. Moreover, 29.3 per cent of all consumer-graded eggs were packed in one dozen cartons.

March, incidentally, is "egg month" throughout the nation.

Unfair Practices

By Victor Riesel

VICTOR RIESEL

When the lights go on again in Portland's pinball machines and the Big Helens, Little Helens and all the in-betweens have set up house again, Portland's Teamsters Union will still have among the men who took the Senate witness stand and said they were being "persecuted" because they were labor leaders.

Now I'm going to tell you how these upstanding, self-styled crusaders treat the people who work for them. What greater measure of passionate ethics and morality can there be than how one treats those who earn their daily bread from his bounty?

The men who squirmed on the Senate witness stand also controlled, in their spare time, Portland's Teamsters Local 223. This union ran something called the Security Plan—its welfare fund. To do this they, of course, had to have an office staff.

SOMEWHERE the working guys and girls in that office got the quixotic idea that they should join a union and bargain with their employer—the Teamsters Union itself. That did it.

Those Local 223 lovers of the proletariat then established a record. They turned out to be the only employers in 20 years of National Labor Relations Board history who violated every one of the federal unfair labor practices. These Teamsters union officials tried first to smash their office workers' union although the clerical people were legitimately signed up by a sister AFL union, the Office Employees' International Union, headed by Howard Coughlin. The Teamsters were the only employers in history who discriminated against their workers, even before their workers testified in protest at the National Labor Relations Board.

The Teamsters tried to bully their own help into violating labor's own code. This the Teamsters did by firing one woman who refused to pass a picket line which the Office Employees Union threw up before the Teamsters' building.

THE TEAMSTERS then tried to force the office staff to join the Teamsters' Local 223 itself, which would have meant the creation of a company union—a most despised thing in labor's hate list.

Failing in this, the Teamsters Union then fired four of its workers for joining a legitimate union. And Local 223 refused to bargain with the Office Employees' International, although this white collar organization of the AFL had signed up a majority of the staff.

This is against the law. And Hell hath no fury like a union anywhere else whose workers are fired by an employer for joining up.

Of course, the Office Employees' International took the case to the National Labor Relations Board, which prepared to call witnesses in the dispute. The Teamsters' then violated a federal law which says that no employer shall seek to influence the testimony of a witness who is going to appear before the NLRB.

WHO TRIED to influence who? A fellow by the name of John J. Sweeney, international representative of the Teamsters Brotherhood, who has since died. The late Mr. Sweeney told a prospective witness either to falsify her testimony or "take a trip."

And who was Mr. Sweeney in addition to representing Dave Beck's office in that northwest corner of the land?

I really know little about these things, so I'll quote Bob Kennedy, chief counsel to the Senate's select racket-busting committee, who summarized one of the hearings last week this way:

"... (two thugs) with the help of union officials attempted to organize the vice of the city. They tried prostitution. They tried punchboards—with the returns to go to Brewster and Sweeney. They were to have exclusive jurisdiction over punchboards."

Earlier a witness identified John J. Sweeney as one of the teamster officials who d spatched two Seattle gamblers to organize rackets and vice in Portland.

The case of the union workers who tried to organize a union isn't yet resolved.

The Supreme Court will rule on whether or not those who work for a union have the right to organize into unions. It's on this month's calendar. But whatever the technical decision may be, there is always the high court of public opinion.

'Middle-Age Spread'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK Do you know how to tell whether you have "middle-aged spread?" A woman always seems able to, but a man can't—or else his vanity won't let him.

If a friend tells him at lunch, "Joe you better cut down on the cheese cake, you're getting middle-aged spread," he simply doesn't believe it. At home that night Joe pulls in his stomach until his face gets purple, looks at himself in the mirror, and says, "Not bad. That guy at lunch must've been trying to kid me."

But there is one thing that doesn't kid anybody unless it's made of rubber—and that's a tape measure.

DR. THOMAS K. Cureton, a director of the physical fitness research laboratory, has figured out an easy way to detect middle-aged spread.

This is it: Simply measure yourself around the abdomen. Then measure yourself around the chest while it is expanded. If your belly girth is larger, brother, you've got it—middle-aged spread.

And Dr. Cureton, who also acts as a health consultant for Cooper's Inc., makers of men's knit underwear (they want to keep middle-aged men alive longer because dead men don't buy underwear), warns you'd better do something about middle-aged spread as soon as you detect it.

MANY MIDDLE-AGED men regard dieting as the only solution to the problem of middle-aged spread. Dr. Cureton says a proper diet, of course, is helpful. But he says that the middle-aged man also has to grunt his way out of his swivel chair and take proper exercises to get real results.

"It has been very impressive to see how men and women above 40 years of age have been able to improve their fitness by taking up physical training," he adds.

But Dr. Cureton feels that the ordinary social-recreational types of casual exercise obtained in a few casual games of bowling, golf, volleyball, table tennis, or shuffleboard won't do the trick:

HERE ARE Dr. Cureton's suggestions for getting rid of middle-aged spread and restoring lost muscle tone:

"Reduce starchy and fried foods in the diet, and eat more fruits, vegetables and protein foods. "Breathe more deeply, try to stay untensed, move parts of the body frequently, even while sitting."

"Fifteen to 50 full knee bends are excellent. As you breathe deeply, draw the abdominal muscles in toward the spine as far as you can with each breath. "Walk two miles each day with a swinging stride. . . or swim 200 to 400 yards. . . or cycle five to 10 miles."

In a month your middle-aged spread should be gone. But if you quit your diet and cease exercising, in another month that tire around your tummy will be right back again.

More Farms Gain Telephone Service

For the first time in history, statistics show that more than half the nation's farmers have telephone service. According to a survey conducted by the American Farm Bureau Federation's Crop Reporting Board in 1956, approximately 51.9 per cent of all farms, or about two and one-half million places, had one type or another of telephone service as of July 1 last year.

This figure compares, the service notes, with a figure of 49.2 per cent in 1955 and only 38.2 per cent in 1950. Back in 1940 only 25 per cent of the country's farm owners enjoyed telephones.

The report indicates that an increase was realized in all geographic regions of the country last year. Only the South Atlantic and South Central regions are the ones remaining with less than 50 per cent of the farm homes still without telephones.

More farms—83 per cent—in the New England states have phone service than in any other region. In mid-Atlantic and Pacific regions, between 78 and 79 per cent of the farms have this important service.

Farm Bureau Women Sign Resolution Letter

The Marion County Farm Bureau Women's Committee met recently in the YMCA to approve resolutions for this year's activities. The group authorized a letter to the Marion County commissioners voicing their intention of approving fully efforts to apprehend persons dumping trash and rubbish in rural areas.

The next meeting of the group will feature a tour of the county election board office in the court house, with April 2 the proposed date. The organization will meet at 1:30 p.m. for the tour.

Breeders Set To Meet

The annual meeting of the Northern Ohio Breeders Association is scheduled for Saturday in Seneca County's Clinton Township School. The program is to get under way promptly at 10 a.m., with discussion sessions on health and disease in breeding stock and the use of frozen semen. There are approximately 600 members of the NOBA in Marion County.

Shortage of Farm Credits Are Noted

WASHINGTON — The government is receiving complaints from widespread farming areas that there is a shortage of credit for farmers' spring operating needs.

The complaints are being accompanied by requests that the Agriculture Department step in and fill the credit gap with its emergency loan programs. Many farmers depend on short-term loans to purchase seed, fertilizers and other production needs.

The department already has set up emergency loan programs for all of Mississippi and North Dakota and parts of Maine, North Carolina, South Carolina, and South Dakota, because of a shortage of loan money there.

Officials said the shortage of farm credit in many areas is a result of the current tight money market and the ability of most lenders to invest in better-paying and safer enterprises.

Up Grade your Beef Cattle

Farm Bureau PRO-BLEND 50

More PROTEIN than ever before at a lower unit cost

That smooth, top quality show ring finish goes on beef steers easier with Farm Bureau PRO-BLEND 50 cattle supplement. You get these results at less cost, too, because PRO-BLEND 50 gives you more protein for your money than other supplements on the market. Look at it this way—just 300 pounds of Farm Bureau PRO-BLEND 50 gives you as much protein as 500 pounds of the ordinary supplement—a savings of 20 to 30 percent on protein costs.

Farm Bureau PRO-BLEND 50 offers this outstanding economy at no sacrifice in feeding value. PRO-BLEND 50 is carefully formulated to carry the vitamin fortification and essential minerals for sound, rapid growth. It also contains stabilized animal fat to increase palatability and feed efficiency. These are just a few of the reasons why PRO-BLEND 50 is the most popular new feed ever offered by Farm Bureau, Ohio's largest feed distributor.

You can profit from Farm Bureau PRO-BLEND 50, whether you feed three steers or three hundred! For show ring, or just feed lot, you'll get the same fine results. PRO-BLEND 50 is easy to use—economical because it allows maximum utilization of farm grown grain and roughage. Your local Farm Bureau feed servicemen will mix your rations to any desired protein level. Drive in with your grain—drive out with the complete feed.

Metropolitan Opera Star Ends Season of Concert Association

A program by Robert McFerrin, baritone, Tuesday night in Harding High School auditorium brought to a close the 1956-57 season of the Marion Concert Association. Fresh from his season with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York, he gave the audience of some 950 music patrons a one and one-half hour program ranging from operatic arias to folk songs and Negro spirituals, and a magnificent display of power, voice and sympathetic interpretation.

Adding immeasurably to the pleasure of the program was the work of the accompanist, Norman Johnson.

In the first half of his program the artist included the compositions of Handel, Wagner, Brahms, Schumann and other well known composers, opening with Handel's "Thanks be to Thee" Wagner's "Hymn to the Evening Star," from "Tannhauser," received the warm applause of the audience, and following his presentation of the jester's demands for the return of his daughter, followed by his heart broken plea for mercy in Verdi's "Rigoletto," he and Mr. Johnson returned to the stage for a bow in response to the hearty applause of the audience.

Officers of the local association are George Lane, president, Mrs. A. G. Birch, membership chairman; Mrs. Richard Mills, secretary and Mrs. Carter Patton, treasurer.

Boy, 10, Will Get First Crack At $256,000 TV Quiz Jackpot

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-year-old show, the sponsor announced that science, gets first crack at winning a possible $256,000 on a television quiz show.

He's Robert Strom, whose knowledge of chemistry, physics, astrophysics, astronomy and other sciences is astounding.

Robert gave an example of his genius Tuesday night by collecting the top prize on CBS' "The $64,000 Question" to qualify for what the network calls "the world's biggest" TV quiz show prize.

Young Strom fielded four tricky questions to win the $64,000 prize. Just a few hours prior to the Author, Lawyer To Remain Under Care of Hospital

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Author, explorer and lawyer, John M. Holzworth, 68, was denied an unconditional release from nearby Hawthorn State Hospital Tuesday by Summit County Common Pleas Court.

Judge Ray B. Watters agreed with hospital authorities that Holzworth, declared sane two weeks ago, should remain under their jurisdiction on a one-year trial basis following his release.

Claiming he had several cases coming up in Washington, Holzworth, author of "River of No Return," contended the conditional release would take from him indirectly his right to practice law.

Arrested in 1954 on a charge of conversion filed by a Kent auto firm, he fought with fellow prisoners and set fire to newspapers in his jail cell at Ravenna, Portage County officers said.

He was committed to Hawthorn in November, 1954, escaped a month later, and was picked up in Akron. Transferred to Lima State Hospital for 20 months, he was finally returned to Hawthorn.

TV Viewers in Detroit Watch Heart Operation

DETROIT (AP) — Television viewers watched surgeons repair the heart of Harlow Weaver, 23, at Grace Hospital in Detroit Tuesday night.

Cameras of station WWJ-TV picked up the operation after surgeons opened Weaver's chest cavity and exposed the throbbing heart muscle.

Dr. James E. Blodgett described the steps in the operation as he performed it.

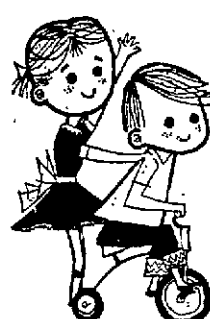

Weaver, a farm equipment salesman from Scottville, Mich., had a defective valve in his heart.

A similar operation was televised last year in Seattle.

Fostoria Plant Burns

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP) — The American Railway Signal Co. plant was destroyed Tuesday by a fire that started on a fuzee (railroad warning signal) capping table. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

Plant officials said apparently one of the fuzees, which contain phosphorus, was rubbed in some manner, causing it to ignite. Forty employees escaped as flames spread through the one-story, concrete block building.

Chevalier's Paris

Paris, they say, is everyone's second hometown and therefore NBC, in presenting us Paris, even with so distinguished a boulevardier as Maurice Chevalier as guide, was sticking its neck out about as far as it would go. Some years ago, when John Gunther wrote "Side U.S.A.," I recollect a good many people telling me it was a fine, thorough book except the chapters devoted to their own states, which were all wrong.

The trouble with doing an hour-long disquisition on Paris is that too many people have been there and know exactly what they want to see in a documentary on it, and heaven help the producer if it's not there.

I, for one, consider it shocking to find that a film of such length does not include the information that Paris has several race tracks right smack in the Bois (like having a race track in Central Park), that the subway maps light up, that — well there were a good many other omissions but then this wasn't supposed to be my Paris, but Maurice Chevalier's Paris.

IT WAS ALSO Steve White's Paris. White — along with Ted Mills, the producer, and Chevalier — were listed as the writers. White, who once resided there for the New York Herald Tribune and later for Look magazine, has an astirgent though kindly view of Paris and Parisians which always amused me.

There were touches here and there of White's special view. There was, for instance, a glimpse of the concierges: "They know everything about you and they disapprove of everything," said Chevalier.

That would be a White-like view; the idea that no matter how the tenant lived, the concierge knows all about it and thoroughly disapproves.

There was another bit about a Parisian about to taste his wine and taking his bloody time about it. Mr. Chevalier filled this interval by saying that the Frenchman assumes everyone else is wrong; that he starts out with the assumption that the wine is going to be the wrong wine — somebody's bungled again and really it's insupportable — and then is agreeably surprised when it isn't the wrong wine at all in fact, quite the opposite.

This bit — a Frenchman approaching his first taste of wine with the utmost reluctance and then being charmed by it — was delightful.

I REMEMBER ONCE telling Steve White about watching a Parisian devour — destroy would be a more accurate word — dinner. Without missing a beat of the conversation, he attacked crudite, oysters, roast duck, mountains of vegetables, hot breads, salads, flaming desserts, (three of them), cheeses (four of them), coffee, brandy. White listened to this in silence and then said: "No fish? He must have been sick."

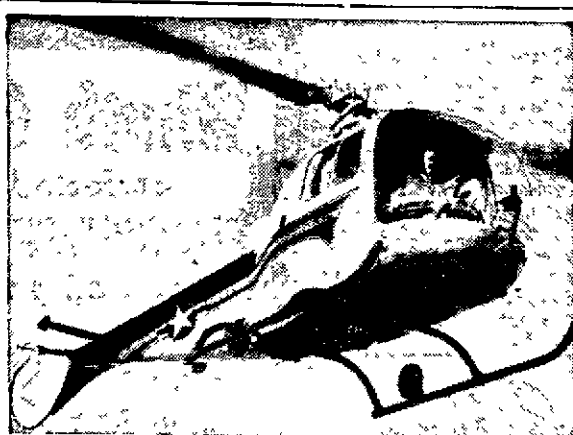

Well, anyhow, I found Maurice Chevalier's Paris engaging, if incomplete. Starting with the quarter Montmartre where he was born, where the people were dancing in the street (something that doesn't happen very often in Paris outside the movies), he toured the quays, the grocery stores (though not the markets), the saloons, the parks, the bridges, the theater.

There were wonderful shots of roofs, the statuary of horses (Paris is alive with writhing stone horses the Seine ("Fishermen do not come here to catch fish," explained Chevalier. "They come here to fish, which is a different thing"), the salons of high culture where the dresses were fabulous and the girls more so, the park benches.

THE PHILOSOPHY that went with all these wonderful glimpses was dry and accurate but perhaps a little perfunctory and ordinary. The French love of freedom taken to lengths which would be anachronical anywhere else, the desire to do exactly as one pleases, the passionate individuality of every artisan which makes even the table legs and the railing of the balconies things of beauty, even some of the economic problems of a machinist whose flame of individuality burns so brightly he can't really compete in the 20th century world — all of these were touched upon.

I listened but I did not hear any words to the effect that Paris is not only the geographical center of France, but the emotional and financial and political and every other kind of center of France — much, much, much, too much the center of France to the degree that the city may some day be a luxury that the French nation cannot afford.

But then it was meant to be a happy hour in a happy and unique city and it was that, all right. "There will never be another like it," said Chevalier at the close. And that is true enough. It's absolutely astonishing that the world managed to build even one of them. (Copyright N. Y. Herald-Tribune)

LIKE'S AIRPORT 'LIMOUSINE'. This Bell 47-J Ranger helicopter is the type intended for use by President Eisenhower in hops from White House lawn to airport. And maybe later to his golf club. It can hit 100 m.p.h., range 200 miles, and seats three plus pilot.

Illness Prevented Sixth Trip

Byrd Longed To Visit South Pole Once More

Editor's note: Saul Pett, Associated Press staff writer, accompanied Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd to the Antarctic in 1955-56. He traveled with the famed explorer to the remotest regions of the polar wastes. Here are some of his observations.

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the glory he had won at both ends of the earth, it is probable that Richard Evelyn Byrd died a disappointed man.

He was the first to fly over the North Pole and first over the South Pole. He had hoped to be the first man in history to land a plane at the South Pole high on the forbidding, windswept plateau deep in the Antarctic interior. He wasn't.

Illness prevented the gaunt admiral from making his sixth trip to the white continent on the expedition recently concluded. It was during this expedition — the first major American expedition that he had missed — that a plane set its skis down for the first time on the geographic pole.

This writer came to know the veteran explorer intimately during the 1955-56 phase of Operation Deep Freeze. It is my impression that if he had had a choice, Byrd would have preferred to die in the Antarctic, among the icy wastes he called his "second home," where he had opened up more unknown territory to exploration than any other single American.

Fearless and Restless
In the tradition of great explorers, Byrd was an eternally fearless and restless man. This abiding curiosity to peek behind the curtains of the unknown, this drive to be the first to walk or fly where no man had ever walked or flown before, gave him an amazing stamina.

He made his last voyage to the Antarctic late in 1955 at the age of 67. He set sail three weeks after undergoing a major operation in the United States. And it was on this trip that he flew for the third time over the pole and also explored other areas in the interior never before seen by man.

Byrd was a proud man, jealous of his reputation and ever sensitive to any suggestion that he might be getting too old for the rigors of Antarctic exploration. During a severe gale on his last voyage, he once slipped and sustained a minor cut on his face. Younger sailors in better health suffered far more serious injuries during that storm; but the admiral blushed to admit he was even scratched.

Man of Moods

A man of moods, the admiral could be counted on to brighten up the minute he stepped from a gangplank onto Antarctic ice. Revisiting the site of his earliest camps on the desolate, frozen plain of Little America, he stamped in the snow, eyes aglow, saying, "Isn't this something? What do you think of this plain? You know I am the mayor here."

He was a warm man beloved by his shipmates. There were many he helped with money and other kindnesses long after they sailed with him.

To his last days, Byrd was a flyer who knew the sound of plane engines the way a mother can detect illness in a baby's cry. I recall that taking off from a tiny coral atoll in the Pacific called Canton, we were sitting together as the plane began to move down the runway.

"I don't like the sound of that number four engine," he observed quietly. Sure enough, a few seconds later, the plane captain didn't like it either and halfway down the runway he braked his ship. We spent the next two hours getting number four engine repaired.

Accidents Costly

BOSTON (AP) — The Institute for Safer Living says that if all accidents could be eliminated in the United States for one year, the money saved could build one million new single family houses. It says all accidents in the nation last year cost nearly 11 billion dollars.

New Shoe Store On S. Main Will Open Thursday

Grand opening of a new shoe store in Marion will be held Thursday.

It is Garson's Shoes located on S. Main St. one door south of Center St. in the store room until recently occupied by Lords Jewelers.

It is one of a three-store chain owned and operated by Garson and Sol Saidleman, brothers, and Garson's son, Norton. The other two stores are located in Lebanon and Cincinnati.

Garson started the business 40 years ago in Cleveland. About 15 years ago, he shifted operations to the store in Lebanon and 10 years ago was joined by his son. Sol joined the organization five years ago and two years ago the second store was opened in Cincinnati.

The store here will handle a full line of nationally advertised men's, women's and children's shoes, said Sol, who will be the manager of the local store.

He has moved his family to Marion and is living at 301 Bradford St. with his wife and three children.

Hit by Truck, Killed

CLEVELAND (U)—Nicholas Kulawick, 75, a retired railroad worker, was killed Tuesday when hit by a backing truck in the yard at his home in nearby Linndale. He was directing the truck, loaded with fill dirt, to a ravine behind his home when the accident occurred.

American Reds' Break Called Hoax by Hoover

WASHINGTON (U)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Tuesday called American Communists' claimed break with Moscow "a fraud."

The prime objective of this Communist move, he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in a letter, is to "thwart future prosecutions by the Justice Department."

He said the U.S. Reds, after their recent New York convention which claimed to have ousted Stalinist leaders and voted to break ties with the Kremlin, are not one bit different than before. He called them "still the masters of the Big Lie."

Students Report to Club On World Affairs Talks

A report on the 11th annual World Affairs Institute, held at Cincinnati last weekend, was given by three Marion high school students at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

The student speakers, all sponsored at the Cincinnati meeting by the Marion Rotary Club, were Phil Sykes and Ruth Ann Miller of Harding High School and Larry Kelly of St. Mary.

Sykes reported on a talk by Abbot Washburn, deputy director of the U. S. Information Agency, who discussed the Voice of America radio project and other instruments of U. S. propaganda overseas.

MOST PEOPLE in foreign countries do not understand how our government works, he said, and it behooves us to do a better job of informing them.

Discussion at the institute centered mainly on Hungary and very little was said about the Middle East situation, Sykes said.

Kelly covered talks by Agah M. Ashraf of Pakistan, deputy of public information for the United Nations, Kornei Huvos, a former Hungarian freedom fighter, and Reuben S. Nathan of Radio Free Europe.

Mr. Huvos described in detail the Hungarian rebellion and pointed out the revolt did strike a telling blow for freedom even though it did not accomplish all its objectives.

MISS MILLER told of the discussion sessions that were held in small groups, and also reported on the talk given by David Brinkley, NBC newscaster from Washington, D. C.

Mr. Brinkley pointed out the United States currently is engaged in a war of words and ideas and that this country is striving to improve its position in the fight.

We haven't always cared what the world thought of us, he said, and when we have cared we sometimes have gone at the educational task in the wrong way. Psychologically we always should offer other countries assistance rather than outright gifts, he declared.

Wayne H. Kuhn of the Rotary Club World Affairs Institute committee and Mrs. Kuhn accompanied the Marion students to Cincinnati. Mr. Kuhn introduced yesterday's speakers and also mentioned several highlights of the meeting.

THE UNITED STATES quite clearly and frankly is calling its overseas information program "American propaganda," he said, and it is improving.

He also revealed that in an informal poll taken among the students at the institute, a good percentage indicated they thought the United States should have intervened with armed force in the Hungarian revolt.

Mr. Kuhn further reported that all the experts on the subject at the institute insisted that the United States had absolutely no hand in fomenting the rebellion by the Hungarian freedom fighters against the Communist rule.

Theodore Huffert is program chairman for March. Guests were introduced by Dr. Charles W. Wilson.

Visiting Rotarians were Clyde H. Collins of Cardington and Jasper Burt, a member of the LaPorte, Ind., club but now a resident of Marion. Guests included R. H. Hanna, Luther J. Kemp and J. P. Ammer, all of Tecumseh, Mich., and J. J. Kelly of Marion.

Patrolmen Arrest Three Connecticut Runaways

DELAWARE — Three juveniles who had walked away from a detention home in Glastonbury, Conn., were apprehended by Delaware patrolmen Tuesday afternoon on Route 161 just west of Plain City after a auto chase.

The youths who reportedly had stolen a 1957 model car had escaped Monday afternoon from the detention home and traveled through New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania without being picked up.

Patrolmen said wire dispatches concerning the boys' escape and the stolen car had not been transmitted this far west. The patrolmen attempted to stop them on suspicion of being too young to have drivers' licenses.

The boys, two of them 14 and the other 15, decided to attempt to outrun the patrol car, but the car they were driving went out of control on a curve and the auto came to a 'standstill' at the side of the road.

Patrolmen said the youths at first decided to flee the scene, but then changed their minds and surrendered. Connecticut authorities have been notified and will pick them up at Delaware today where they are being held, patrolmen added.

Patrolmen said the auto driven by McMichael ran off the right side of Route 30-N, one mile east of Bucyrus at 8 p.m. and struck a mailbox owned by Russell Morton of near Bucyrus.

The report indicated only minor damage was done to the vehicle while the mailbox was demolished, tree.

Railroad Use Of Fast Time Will Be Tested

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad announced today that the entire passenger operation of the railroad will be placed on daylight saving time, effective April 28, the day most people will change their clocks.

In making the announcement, J. Benton Jones, vice president of passenger sales and services said the change in time is being made on a trial basis this year in an attempt to facilitate the greatest majority of passengers.

He added, however, that some areas the line serves will remain on standard time, thus causing an hour's difference in figuring schedules, to agree with the railroad's daylight saving time.

The change in time will be made systemwide at 2:01 a.m. April 28 and continue until Oct. 27. This change will not be limited to public clocks and timetables. All operating timetables and watches carried by crew members will be changed and all passenger trains will actually run on daylight time.

Public timetables covering service to and from gateways such as Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, and Washington, D.C., where the Pennsylvania provides connections with railroads operating in standard time territory of the west and south, will show arrivals and departures at these terminals in both daylight and standard time. Schedules of through cars to the south and west will be shown in standard time at points beyond Pennsylvania territory.

Time used on station clocks, bulletin boards, and train announcements in cities in which the Pennsylvania shares the use of union stations will be determined before April 28 through agreements reached between the Pennsylvania Railroad and other railroads.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

Minor injuries were sustained in one of the two county accidents investigated by local post patrolmen while in the city, police reported four no injury accidents Tuesday.

A local youth was injured slightly when his auto turned over in a field off Route 4, two miles south of Marion at 7:42 p.m. Tuesday in one of the two county mishaps.

The car driven by David L. Kelly, 18, of 205 Leader St. was southbound on Route 4 when an unknown vehicle pulled out of Sawyer Rd. in front of it, patrolmen said.

The Kelly auto cut to the left to avoid a collision with the other auto and swerved out of control on the east side of the road before turning over, the report indicated.

Extensive damage was done to the Kelly vehicle. The driver received lacerations of the forehead but was not treated.

The junction of County Roads 174 and 26, four miles north of Marion, was the scene of the second county accident. It occurred at 11:10 p.m.

Patrolmen said the northbound car driven by Mary A. Hoffman, 17, of 530 Mound St., Marion, went off the right side of the road and knocked down a stop sign, doing moderate damage to the right front side of the auto. She was uninjured, according to the report.

Driver Uninjured

Four minor no injury traffic accidents were investigated Tuesday by Marion police.

One involved a school safety sign and a car driven by Joseph Ledford, 18, of 223 Reed Ave. He was driving along Mt. Vernon Ave. at Vernon Heights Blvd. at 10:15 p.m. and struck the sign, according to the police report.

Each of the other three accidents caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Ohioans Want Farm Export Subsidy Hiked

Farm Bureau Group Visits Washington On Legislative Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Farm Bureau members want the government to step up subsidies for farm exports, the bureau's executive secretary, D. R. Stanfield, said today.

The bureau, he said, is backing a two-year extension of a law providing for shipping surplus food overseas and wants the money for this boosted from one to four billion dollars.

Stanfield expressed these views prior to a breakfast held for Ohio members of Congress by the Ohio Farm Bureau. The bureau's 50 delegates close out a three-day trip to Washington today.

It was Stanfield's contention that the farm export bill is the only one desired by the Ohio Farm Bureau that would entail additional government spending. But this one is needed, he said, because farm costs remain high, prices are "relatively low," and farm exports tend to relieve this condition.

"The law as it now stands," said Stanfield, "is a good one, even though it isn't a total answer to the farm problem during this period of farm surplus."

With respect to another piece of proposed legislation, H. D. Heckathorn, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau, said Congress should reject a Packers and Livestock Act amendment offered by Sen. Mundt (R-SD).

This bill, Heckathorn said, would mean that livestock marketing agencies would be deducting up to 10 cents a head on cattle and calves, and five cents on sheep, lambs and swine.

"The money would be used to support research and to promote the sale of meat," Heckathorn said, but would be far more than is needed.

"The National Livestock and Meat Board has operated successfully for 35 years," Heckathorn said. "The board already does all the things proposed in Sen. Mundt's Amendment and the money comes from growers and shippers."

Tuesday, the farm bureau group talked with Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Lausche told them the federal government is so big "I'd have to be 20 Lausches to keep up with what's going on. Even then, I doubt that I could do it."

JOHN THE BAPTIST

"There was a man sent from God, whose name was John."

—John 16

Tall, solitary, homeless—wrapped in a camel's skin, his hair depending upon his shoulders, his eyes burning with the zeal of evangelism—such was John the Baptist.

Born when both his parents were of advanced age, he went into the wilderness when still very young, to meditate and to purify himself after the manner of the yogs of India.

Like anchorites of all ages, he ate simple food (locusts and wild honey), eschewed alcohol and women, and allowed his beard to grow to prophetic length.

Being of the priestly race by both parents, and owing to his dynamic personality and message, he attracted a great multitude "from every quarter" when he appeared in Betharaba, in the vicinity of the Jordan, urging repentance, and announcing the coming of the Messiah.

"He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose."

Jesus, then nearing His 30th year, journeyed from Galilee to the Jordan, where the "wild man," the Baptist, immersed the penitent in the waters of the river for a symbolical cleansing, even as he told them of the coming Messiah, who would baptize with fire.

When John saw Jesus approaching, he said "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world."

Jesus, about to embark upon the three brilliant last years of His earthly life, marked the Change with baptism in the Jordan.

John the Baptist understood this. He knew that his prophecy was about to be fulfilled.

A crowd gathered upon the banks as Jesus entered the river, to witness His baptism. It was the last day of harvest, and their spirits were high. To their superficial view, the baptism of Jesus was like that of other "sinners" who had come to have their spiritual stains washed away. But such was not the case with John.

"And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit, like a dove descending upon him. And there came a voice from heaven, saying, 'Thou art my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased.'"

The mission of John the Baptist was fulfilled. The final mission of Jesus had begun.

Report Notes Big Rise in Number of Working Women

WASHINGTON (AP)—A continuing "revolution in women's employment" that may mean 33,800,000 feminine jobholders by 1975 was reported to President Eisenhower today.

In a two-year study of "woman-power," the National Manpower Council traced changes in the work status of women, including the "explosive and unprecedented expansion" that came with World War II.

At the turn of the century about half the adult women never entered paid employment, the report said.

"Now at least nine out of every 10 women are likely to work outside the home in the course of their lives," the council added.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (U.S.) — Stock market prices moved higher early this afternoon but trading continued slow.

The general range of advances by key stocks was from fractions to a point but some made wider gains.

Wall Street observers said investors and traders were still awaiting further signs of the future in discussions of the national budget and the Middle East situation.

Despite cutbacks in steel production by two more companies, the leading steel shares were steady to higher. Oils were stronger in the wake of recent profit-taking.

Some fair gains were made by nonferrous metals. Leading rails, however, were pretty well mixed.

Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway was up as much as eight as the Interstate Commerce Commission formally authorized its acquisition by the Louisville & Nashville, which gained a major fraction.

Kennecott Copper and Gulf Oil were ahead around two while Anaconda, International Nickel, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Amerasia and Texas Co. gained about a point each.

U. S. government bonds were slightly higher.

Driving Blind

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (U) —
A. L. Wycoff of Spokane, Wash.,
rounded the corner of a building, drove up a slight grade, suddenly saw the nose of his car drop several feet with a spine-jarring crash.

He'd driven up the loading ramp of a building supply company while trying to find his bearings in the 2 a.m. darkness. His car landed with its front wheels on the ground, its rear ones still on the loading ramp.

Police called a wrecker and helped Wycoff get his car back to earth.

More Phones Back in Order In Portsmouth

Company Reports Police and Hospital Service Is Restored

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (U.S.)—Police and hospital telephones were restored here Tuesday in a continuing effort to bring Portsmouth and Scioto County's communications back to normal after the long Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. strike.

The company said workmen concentrated most of the day in repairing one cable serving the hospitals and police department. The cable was one of many slashed by unknown parties during the strike.

To Map Program

Officials of the General Telephone Co., parent concern of Ohio Consolidated, are scheduled to arrive here today to study engineering problems and map a program to repair damaged facilities. More than 25 per cent of the telephones have been restored.

The officials said more damage is being discovered by survey crews, that several lines had been found cut at South Webster, and that crews found that cables had been cut in four manholes in New Boston. A cable is being shipped for splicing the Portsmouth-Lucasville lines.

Sciotoville telephones may be restored Thursday, the company reported.

The 228-day strike of the Communications Workers of America ended Feb. 27 after union members ratified a new contract. For many weeks during the strike the Portsmouth and Scioto County exchanges had been closed by cable slashings.

Ordered To Pay Costs

Eleven former strikers Tuesday were ordered to pay costs on court proceedings growing out of convictions on contempt of court charges last October.

Judge James W. Lang Jr., of Adams County, who found the 11 guilty some weeks ago, did not impose any other sentence. His ruling was similar to one by Judge William D. Radcliff of Circleville when he found 24 strikers guilty of contempt during hearings in Portsmouth.

Noting the similarity, Judge Lang said: "The sentence should be the same in order to be fair to all parties."

Judge Lang dismissed charges against Local 4372 and nine other persons, telling the union members: "You as individuals are the ones that violated the order. You will have to accept that what you did was your own individual act."

The contempt charges grew out of alleged violations of a court order against violence in the long strike.

Marks Anniversary

VATICAN CITY (U.S.)—Silver trumpets and cheers of thousands hailed Pope Pius XII Tuesday on the 18th anniversary of his coronation. The 81-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church entered St. Peter's Basilica on his portable throne, accompanied by his court and escorted by Swiss guards. The pontiff raised his right hand in a continuous gesture of blessing to an estimated 20,000 people.
